ADJOURNMENT IS POSTPONED

Failure to Agree on an Item In Naval Appropriation Bill.

DESPERATE CONTEST IS ON

Exceedingly Sensational Debate at the Night Session of the House Led by Mr. Cannon.

Washington June 6—When the house tonight at 10 30 took a recess until 10 a m tomorrow the two chambers of the national legislature with heads down and horns locked were in a desperate struggle over the item in the naval appropriation bill relating to ocean

The final adjournment of congress is postponed until it is over

The proceedings in the house during the day were tame and without dramatic incident This was partly due to the fact that the firm position taken by the house on the armor plate provision transferred the fight to the floor of the senate and also to the obstinate refusal of Mr Lentz an Ohio Democrat to permit any unanimous consent

Failure to allow the testimony in the Coeur D Alene investigation to be printed Mr Lentz held the house by the throat all day and practically at a standstill

But to night there was enough excitement to compensate for the dullness of the day session The house got its back up over the failure of its conferees to abide by their instruction on the sundry civil survey item and after an exceedingly sensational debate in which Mr Cannon the chairman of the appropriations committee made some startling disclosures as to the manner in

SENATE WRANGLED OVER ARMOR PLATE MATTER

Washington June 6—At 10 a m today the senate reconvened to prepare for final adjournment A score of senators only were present but the chamber rapidly filled

Numerous conference civil appropriation bills remained in conference and others having been agreed to

The usual routine business practically was abandoned today Only two or three bills and reports were

Mr Carter secured the passage of a bill providing for the increase to $2 000 the limit of the cost of public buildings at Helena Mont

A recitation was then taken to await the presentation of conference reports

When the senate reconvened at 10 30 Mr Allison reported from the committee on appropriations the house concurrent resolution providing for final adjournment at 3 p m today The committee had made no amendment as permitted temporarily to lie on the table

Mr Hale presented a conference report on the naval appropriation bill upon a disagreement upon all but one item that has been in dispute for three or four days Mr Hale explained that the armor plate question was the great stumbling block to agreement The price had been agreed upon by the conferees because the house conferees believed the price should be left to the discretion of the Secretary of the navy Mr Hale said Mr Penrose had a proposition to offer which he would like to have the senate pass upon Mr Penrose then offered the following

Mr Penrose's Proposition.

That the secretary of the navy is hereby authorized to procure by contract armor of the best quality for the vessels of all classes above referred to and shall enter into contracts for the same which in his judgment are reasonable and equitable but in no case shall the contract price for armor under the above conditions be in excess of the price contracted and paid for the armor for and to erect thereon a factory for the manufacture of armor and the sum of $3 000 000 is hereby appropriated toward the erection of said factory

Butler Wants a Plant.

Mr Butler said that what he wanted was a government armor plate plant He would be willing to pay almost any price for armor that is needed now and said that the construction of armor plate for the government were made contractors

Mr Chandler objected to leaving the matter to the discretion of the secretary of the navy Congress ought not in addition to lift the responsibility to the shoulders of the secretary of war That would be a cowardly thing to do

The bill was passed appropriating $55— for a public building in the district of Alaska

The fight on the armor question was then resumed

Mr Jenkins a member of the naval committee supported the original committee proposition He did not approve of leaving the matter to the discretion of the secretary of the navy

Tillman Talks of Scandal

Mr Tillman attacked the amendment offered by Mr Penrose

He said he had declared that the government is being robbed and that the trust has a knife at the government's throat We are face to face with a scandal as enormous as any in our history second not even to the great credit mobilier scandal

He said that statement interjected Mr Penrose vehemently and with evident feeling I resent the statement that there is any question of scandal in this or any amendment which I offer

In making no personal allusions to Mr Tillman I am simply stating facts that are indisputable The people behind the public in this matter are the ship builders and armor plate men

Mr Teller's Idea

Mr Teller denounced the amendment of Mr Penrose as a disgraceful proposition

As the senator from New Hampshire said continued Mr Teller it will be cowardly and craven on the part of congress to surrender legislative authority and prerogative to the executive branch of the government It seems to me there may be a time of corruption This is a time for plain talk The Americans believe and I believe that there is a great political conspiracy behind this proposition to surrender

I do not believe said Mr Teller that any scandal in our history will exist that which will grow out of a refusal now to give this enormous sum to the Cuban Spanish and American soldiers is a minor matter as compared with that which would occur under the influence of these monopolistic armor plate robbers

He said the proposition of Mr Penrose had not been considered without a thorough investigation by the American people that they were being robbed

Hanna Replies

The bitterness of the senator from Colorado said Mr Hanna excites only my sympathy The opinions of the matter is the examination on the part of the senator from Colorado is to be sacrificed

Patriotism to a suggestion Mr Hanna said

I want to see this armor question taken out of the legislative branch of the government because I want to see it taken out of politics In advocating this disposition of the matter I resent the charge of the senator from Colorado that anybody has been or will be influenced by motives lower than those by which the senator says he is actuated

Mr Hanna said the secretary of the navy should be left desolation to act as he saw fit As for Mr Teller's assertion that the Republican party was taking long chances when they put themselves in the attitude of defending what he styles the armor plate trust he (Hanna) was sure the Republican party would not shrink from the responsibility of doing business on sound business principles The party would not flinch from any criticism

Mr Hanna said the secretary of the navy could be left to act as he saw fit As for Mr Teller's assertion that the Republican party was taking long chances when they put themselves in the attitude of defending what he styles the armor plate trust he (Hanna) was sure the Republican party would not shrink from the responsibility of doing business on sound business principles The party would not flinch from any criticism from any source their critics He was sure that all these opposition amendments were for mere political effect and he wanted it understood that the opposition senators had no patent on integrity or honesty

In conclusion Mr Hanna alluded to the Penrose proposition as a fair compromise

Mr Tillman said that if the bill should fail the responsibility would be on the house of representatives

"Villainous Pessimism"

Mr Hawley entered a protest against the criticism of public men characterizing it as treasonable and as villainous pessimism

He advocated the Penrose compromise

Mr Daniel opposed the Penrose amendment and urged the senate to stand up to the fight which had been on for days

Mr Hanna and Mr Jenkins he said had demanded with the same liberation business should be conducted on business principles But he had never heard that business principles demanded that the buyer should place himself entirely in the hands of the seller or that a man should employ an agent to do for him that which he could do for himself

Why asked Mr Daniel did the armor plate manufacturers decline to tell the cost of the plate in the armor plate when asked by the senate committee?

Mr Penrose asked permission to reply to this inquiry and began by referring to Mr Daniel's speech as a reckless statement and demagogic appeal

Mr Daniel resented this characterization and refused to yield further Such language he considered was unbecoming to the senate and the senate

Continuing Mr Daniel urged that there was no emergency that should render it so necessary to hurry the construction of the navy as not to take time to do that which should be done in the interest of the public welfare

At 2 20 Mr Hale asked for a vote on the pending proposition but Mr Butler addressed the senate in opposition to a surrender by the senate when it was on the verge of victory

In conclusion Mr Butler exclaimed Let the fight begin

A Close Vote

A vote was then taken on Mr Penrose's proposition and it was defeated by a vote of 31 to 31

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Mrs. Lowe and Mrs. Dickinson Head the Ticket.

Reorganization Was the Main Topic of the Business Sessions but Action Was Postponed.

Milwaukee June 6—Reorganization the issue of the day in the General Federation of Women Clubs will not come to a vote until tomorrow It was discussed both at the morning and afternoon sessions today the drift of argument being in favor of the majority report of the committee on reorganization which report suggests but little change in the present form of organization

Those opposed to reorganization which means the continued existence of the individual club instead of a national federation made up of state federations include Mrs Baker of Colorado Mrs Julia B Shattuck of Illinois and Mrs William Tod Helmuth of New York

Those favoring reorganization included Mrs D Innes of Colorado and Mrs Coulter Lilith

The issues are the color question will not be pushed to a public controversy and Mrs Josephine Ruffin the colored delegate chooses to do so individually

The announcement that the ticket would be made up with Mrs Lowe as president and Mrs Charles Denison of New York as vice president was somewhat of a surprise after Mrs Lowe's repeated refusals but nevertheless it seems to please the greater part of the delegates

Education and press section meetings were held during the morning

Following the business session in the afternoon came a drive along the lake shore to Milwaukee Downer college where a reception was held

APPROPRIATIONS

Chairmen of Congressional Committees Furnish the Customary Statement

Washington June 6—A carefully prepared statement on the appropriations of the session was made to night by Senator Allison chairman of the senate committee on appropriations and Chairman Cannon of the house committee on appropriations in accordance with custom The statement says

The appropriations made by the first session of the Fifty-sixth congress includes $121 47 estimated to be on account of or incident to the late war with Spain and deducting it the remaining net appropriations represents the ordinary appropriations made for the support of the government during this session

This shows an apparent excess in the ordinary appropriations at this session for the fiscal year 1901 of $49 717

fiscal year 1899 which immediately preceded the Spanish war The chief increase in ordinary expenditures for 1901

Increase of the navy $ 091 910 pensions $ 381 to pay service exclusive of new vessels district territory $1 twelfth census $9 000 000 permanent appropriations of these increases is $40 20 8 6

These increases in federal appropriations need no defense

AGUINALDO'S IMAGINATION

Statements Regarding Incidents Preceding Capture of Manila Are Without Foundation

Washington June 6—The president today sent to the senate the reply to the statements made by Aguinaldo in his true version of the Philippine revolution

In that statement Aguinaldo says among other things that the Spanish had captured six guns from the American forces in front of Manila before the surrender of that city to the American forces and that these were recaptured by the Filipinos and returned to the Americans

This statement was referred to in the same which the latter answered further to the above cause for the fact to refer to General Otis who was in charge of the American troops with the request for an explanation

General Green referred Aguinaldo's statement to the latter's chief of staff who were charged against the Spaniards at the time of the capture and the latter replies in refutation of the charge

General Green himself says

Pleasanton states made by Aguinaldo are absolutely without foundation each

United States did not fall back did not abandon a single rifle or a single field gun did not make a precipitate retreat the Filipinos did not rush to our assistance did not recapture the rifles and the field guns and did not return them to the Americans The Filipinos took no part in the engagements between the Spaniards and American troops Every single statement in the extract quoted in your letter is false

LULL IN SOUTH AFRICA

Most Important Boer Army Is Believed to Be at Laings Nek.

London June 7 3 17 a m—Military operations in South Africa

apparently at a standstill

For a day or two the fired troops of Lord Roberts are resting and busily filling the magazines and warehouses at his new base Pretoria preparatory to a long change after the retiring Boers in the direction of Ladenberg His cavalry are probably seeking to intercept Commandant General Botha

Some dispatches are to hand which left Pretoria Monday while the fighting was going on outside the city They come by way of Lourenzo Marquez One of them says

Toward the end of the day when the British naval guns were shelling the southern forts a number of projectiles burst damaging the suburbs

All day armed burghers have been leaving Pretoria going east The greater part of the railway rolling stock has been removed

General Botha was fighting an essentially rear guard action his object being not to defend Pretoria but to delay Lord Roberts until the railway switch had been cleared and the main part of the Boer army had started to withdraw The British advance appears to have left open to the Boers the best line of retreat along the railway

Possibly Lord Roberts may have been able to entrap and force full retirement was effected That Pretoria would be defended was apparently given out after the council of war with a

Ladenberg the district to which the provisions originally destined for Pretoria have been diverted and where a cartridge factory has been erected and where reserve supplies of all sorts are stored is a volcanic region of fertile valleys enclosed by giant ramparts of precipitous rocks penetrated by narrow winding passes There are herds of cattle in the valleys and there is much native labor available for fortifying

The Boers used both heavy and light artillery at Pretoria What is supposed to have been the latest train out of Pretoria arrived at Lourenzo Marques Sunday evening The passengers included a number of foreign volunteers who were leaving the Boers and also the wives and children of Hollanders They described Pretoria as destitute of food and clothing What the Boer officials could not take the natives and townspeople did

Probably the most important Boer army is at Laings Nek where both sides are passive General Rundle and General Brabant have withdrawn a little southward.

day in the state Democratic convention by seating the contesting delegation from Shoshone county friendly to the governor the vote being 152 to 77

The result is a practical indorsement of Governor Steunenberg's administration in the Coeur d'Alene trouble as the fight in the convention was made almost entirely on that line The opposition to the governor made a stubborn

Shoshone county was the scene of the Coeur d'Alene mining troubles and one of the contesting delegations represented the element opposed to the administration of affairs there The issue therefore brought the Coeur d'Alene matter directly before the convention

The Steunenberg men contended that the Shoshone county Democratic convention was controlled by Populists who captured the primaries under the dictation of those responsible for the labor troubles

On the preliminary vote to seat neither delegation the proposition was defeated by a vote of 112 to 97 The vote on this contest showed Steunenberg's control of the convention and the opposition then gave way

Chairman Smith Will Seat Maloney Delegation.

BOTH FACTIONS CONFIDENT

Peace Committee Has Abandoned its Vain Efforts—State Central Committee Meeting Fizzled.

Denver Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Denver, June 6, 11:30 p. m.—Late tonight the Democratic situation is somewhat changed, but both Arapahoe county delegations still claim a majority in the convention to-morrow.

The fight is becoming very bitter and both factions refuse to compromise, or to act in case of being given only one-half vote each. The Thomas faction has gained some outside delegations. The result will depend upon whether or not Chairman Smith seats the Maloney delegation upon the temporary roll call, and the Gazette represents it has it from a reliable authority that he will do so.

Cole Briscoe has at last secured a sufficient number of state committeemen to hold an informal meeting of the state committee in the morning at 8 o'clock.

The Maloneyites claim that if Thomas has secured enough members to depose Chairman Smith they will do so and hold a new state convention in order to throw the issue into the national convention.

H. J. Saunders of Pueblo will probably be the Maloney candidate for temporary chairman.

THE DAY'S DEVELOPMENTS.

Denver, June 6.—The Democratic muddle is in the same condition as yesterday. Each side claiming everything. Around the Maloney headquarters there seems to be more life and a good many outside delegates. Thomas headquarters seem to be deserted. The above conditions may appear from the fact of the Maloneyites having plenty to drink and thousands of cigars, while at the Thomas headquarters are few waiters and cigars.

The meeting of the state central committee called by Chairman Briscoe for this morning was a complete failure, only eight members out of 11 being present. Milton Smith, the state chairman, says he has investigated the contest thoroughly and is ready to render a decision when the proper time has arrived, but will not state as to what position he will take in the matter.

Maloney Money in Evidence.

The Maloney faction is making ... tion will be seated upon temporary roll call.

Five bets of $100 each were placed in the hands of Matt Watrous this morning as to the outcome in the convention. There are more offers to wager from the Maloney side than were offered from the Thomas people.

The peace committee held a meeting this morning and decided that they would abandon all negotiations for peace. One of the members said: "We have received enough information to know that the eyes of the world are not attention to us, therefore we have abandoned all hopes."

Martin Corrigan is authority for the statement that Colonel Maloney made a proposition to Governor Thomas to compromise upon the difference and send the governor to the national convention, but the governor replied he would only compromise if Maloney would pledge himself to him for United States senator.

Among the Workers.

E. R. Babbitt of Colorado Springs is here working in the interest of the Thomas people.

Julius Asbole is authority for the statement from the Maloney side that they are like the Republicans of Pennsylvania, they have counted their majority in and that they have lost all interest in the matter.

E. J. Hanger of Cripple Creek is helping to entertain at Maloney headquarters.

George Lysight, the county commissioner of Teller county, says that their delegation is for seating the Maloney faction.

Joe Maupin of Canon City created quite a sensation in the Thomas headquarters this afternoon by accusing Thomas of making his nomination for governor. Mr. Speer, political manager for Governor Thomas, tried to convince Mr. Maupin that the governorship was not in this fight, but Mr. Maupin would not listen to it and walked out, declaring himself for the seating of the Maloney delegation.

R. A. Long, one of Gov. Thomas' managers, claims a large gain in their following today and asserts positively that they will have a majority enough votes to seat the Thomas delegation.

El Paso Delegation.

The El Paso county delegation arrived at 5 o'clock this evening bringing a brass band. They are all feeling lively and claim to be neutral upon [illegible]. One delegate expressed a different opinion, however, and went so far as to say, "We will be 30 for Maloney against 9 for Thomas."

Col. B. F. Montgomery is circulating among the delegates. The colonel says he is not informed as to the condition of affairs in Arapahoe county but as soon as he is he will then take a part on one side or the other. The colonel says he is paying more attention to his own business in securing the congressional nomination in the Second district.

THE NEWS OF CRIPPLE CREEK

All Kinds of Resolutions Discussed by State Federation.

CITY COUNCIL IN SESSION

Committee to Appraise Value of Capitol Hill Property will Report Tuesday—Verdict for Mrs. Stockel.

Special to the Gazette:

Cripple Creek, June 6.—The sessions of the third day of the convention of the State Federation of Labor were given up largely to the offering of resolutions, their discussion, adoption or rejection. The variety of resolutions, ranging from the question as to how far the cooks and waiters are to be sustained in their demands, up to questions of state legislation, shows that the members are doing some thinking and also demonstrates that it is well to hold a convention of the leading men of the different unions of the state once a year. If it results in nothing else it gives the members an opportunity to exchange views on important questions and then go home and keep on thinking.

The committee on resolutions [illegible] reported adversely on the resolution offered yesterday to the effect that no member of organized labor shall join the army or navy, under penalty of expulsion. A resolution condemning the judges of the supreme court for declaring the 8-hour law unconstitutional was carried unanimously. A resolution protesting against the re-election of Judge Goddard or his election for any office was referred to the committee on resolutions.

It is proposed to examine and pass on the qualifications of candidates for office, and a resolution was introduced to give the executive board power to act in that capacity. It was referred to the committee on resolutions.

A representative of the cooks and waiters' union introduced a resolution demanding for the cooks and waiters of this district "days" pay for 6 days' work. The Cooks and Waiters' union some time ago made this demand and their employers refused to grant it. The union then appealed to the Miners' union and the Trades Assembly for support, but these parties turned the proposition down. When the Western Federation of Miners recently visited the district the waiters of Victor, as a means of organization, refused to serve tables at which the visitors ate. It is [illegible] that the federation will sustain the demand.

A resolution for the initiative and referendum was referred to the committee on resolutions. A resolution that all old-political parties be ignored and that members of organized labor support Social Democracy was tabled. A resolution recommending a state law to [illegible] was carried. A resolution of thanks was extended to Thomas [illegible] Patterson for his able defense of the 8-hour law.

It was decided to uphold such friends of organized labor as have proved themselves friends. [illegible] the federation was pledged toward [illegible]

A resolution approving the strike of the switchmen on the Florence & Cripple Creek railway was adopted. [illegible] introduced a resolution recommending that the stores be closed at 6 o'clock and empowering the executive board to confer with the business men of the district.

Tonight the delegates were tendered a grand ball and entertainment in the banquet hall of the I. O. O. F. temple.

City Council.

The city council met tonight in adjourned session. The committee appointed last night to appraise property on Capitol hill, where the new reservoirs to locate, reported that their report would not be ready until next Tuesday night. A petition was presented by the Midland Terminal Railway company asking the council to remove the disorderly houses from the vicinity of the Midland Terminal trestles on Myers avenue. The petition stated that the buildings are located so near the trestles as to be a menace to the property in case of fire. They are also an injury to the business of the road, as the customers and [illegible] are a public nuisance and injure the business of the road, being located so near the depot. The petition was referred to the [illegible] and police committee.

Stocked Verdict.

The jury in the divorce case of Elizabeth [illegible] returned a verdict tonight for Mrs. [illegible]. Attorney [illegible] made a motion for a new trial.

John Casey was placed on trial in the district court this afternoon. He is charged with stealing giant powder to the value of $61.25 from the Tompkins Hardware company. The evidence was all in this afternoon and the arguments will be heard tomorrow.

HOME MISSIONS

Report of Rev. Horace Sanderson, Superintendent of Congregational Work in Colorado.

Detroit, Mich., June 6.—The Congregational Home Missionary society began its sessions here today. The 44th annual report was made public. The report for Colorado, Rev. Horace Sanderson, Denver, superintendent, showed that the receipts from Colorado have been $1,690.53. Thirty-nine missionaries have been in commission during the whole or a part of the year in connection with sixty-three churches and stations. Forty-one Sunday schools report a membership of 3,370. Six churches have been organized.

Superintendent Sanderson reports: "The work in Colorado is in a good healthy condition. The state, in a business way, is doing grandly. Many of the low grade mines are being worked that have laid idle for years, and others are waiting for some one to find a way for treating low grade refractory ore. We have made mountains of this class of mineral.

[illegible] ... ed and two others are in the process of construction, with a possibility of a fourth being started this year.

"At the last meeting of our State Home Missionary committee there were about fifteen urgent calls for us to take up new work, and the committee could say 'yes' to only three of them. Lack of funds was the reason for not taking up more of the needy fields.

"Just a few months ago we were able to place a missionary in a most needy field that has been asking for a minister for a number of years. The boys eight and ten years old are learning to drink and gamble. Will 'God require their blood at our hands?'

"A great deal of our work is among young men. It is said that Colorado has more young men, according to her population, than any other state in the Union. It is also estimated that young men make up about one-fourth of Denver's population.

"A word should be said in regard to our Cripple Creek church. This church has assured self support during the year. The Home Missionary society has given about $1,500 to this church and now they are not only self supporting, but maintain two or three branch Sunday schools and holding preaching services at two points outside of their own regular church services. Hundreds of souls have been saved and the seed has been sown. The church is now in a position to help our society, financially.

"There is a 'missionary spirit' being fostered in quite a large proportion of our churches and the young people are showing a greater interest in missions.

"We feel thankful for the 231 who have joined the Home Missionary churches during the past year, 227 joining on confession of their faith.

AMERICANS REINFORCED

Gunboat Helena Has Been Ordered from Manila for Service in Chinese Waters.

Washington, June 6.—Bad news continues to come from Minister Conger and the American force in the Pei Ho river has been ordered to be reinforced. The minister cabled to-day that the situation was worse at Pekin, and this statement, taken in connection with Admiral Kempff's startling [illegible] of yesterday, announcing that an engagement had begun, decided the state department to strengthen the naval forces nearest the scene of trouble.

Accordingly a cablegram was sent to Admiral Rogers at Manila directing him to dispatch at once to Admiral Kempff's command the gunboat Helena, or if the Helena is not available for immediate service, then a corresponding flight draft ship.

The purpose is to place at Admiral Kempff's disposal any efficient warship capable of ascending the Pei Ho river as far up as Tien Tsin.

Admiral Kempff's flagship, the Newark, drawing [illegible] cannot ascend the river safely beyond the Taku forts near the entrance, but the Ill. Helena, drawing only eleven feet, can safely ascend to Tien Tsin forty miles above. She was specially designed for service in these Chinese rivers, and so is likely to prove much more effective than any other of the foreign warships which can pass the Taku forts and reach Tien Tsin.

The Helena carries a battery particularly adapted to dealing with such [illegible] mobs as the Boxers. Besides her eight-[illegible]-inch rapid-fire guns, she carries four six-pounder rapid-fire two-inch and one three-inch rapid-fire field gun. She is commanded by Commander Swinburne and her complement is ten officers and 166 men.

[illegible] her it is expected that Admiral Remey will add to the one or two companies of marines.

It is gathered from Admiral Kempff's advices that the Boxers are about to [illegible] Admiral Kempff's action will be a particularly welcome addition to the foreign fleet in that part of China. If she leaves Manila today, she should reach Taku next Sunday night or Monday morning.

Secretary Hay has cabled Minister Conger at Pekin for authorization to call for reinforcements from Admiral Kempff and to make such disposition of his naval forces as he deems proper to protect American interests generally.

The administration is still determined that the United States government shall continue on its independent course respecting the Chinese situation though willing to go as far as possible to aid in the restoration of peace and order in China. The cable Admiral Kempff has not been instructed to join the other foreign commanders in the Pei Ho river in concerted action.

AMERICANS EXHAUSTED

Hardships of the Battalion Which Has Been Pursuing Filipinos Through the Mountains.

Manila, June 6.—A dispatch from Candon, dated June 4, says Major P. C. March's men of the Thirty-third regiment, returned to Candon that day by steamer from Aparri.

A majority of the men were ready for the hospital. They are thin and weak, having traveled 250 miles in the mountains during which they suffered greatly from hunger. Of the fifty horses which started with the battalion, thirteen survived. The remainder died on the march or fell into canons.

The battalion practically collapsed at Piat, thirty miles from Tuguegarao, as the result of fevers and exhaustion. Eighty-seven of the men were conveyed from Piat to Muguegarao in bull carts and those falling on the way were carried in litters by the Igorrota of the column.

The officers accompanying Major March were Captains Henry L. Jenkinson and Edward Davis; Lieutenants Carroll Power and Frank L. Case, and Dr. John O. Greenwall, assistant surgeon.

They say it is all guess work as to whether Aguinaldo was shot. Before the Americans struck Santa the insurgent chief divided his forces into parties of ten following different trails. The officer shot was perhaps Aguinaldo's secretary or adjutant. The report among the natives of the region is that Aguinaldo was wounded in the shoulder.

Papers captured show that nearly all the presidents installed by the Americans in General Young's territory are treacherous and have been making regular reports to Aguinaldo as to the disposition and movements of American troops and they have been collecting and forwarding taxes. The captured papers also prove the disloyalty of the native telegraph operators whom the Americans retained on the Cayagan valley line. When Tirona surrendered the Filipino forces in that section, these operators professed loyalty and took the oath of allegiance. But it is now shown that they had been sending Aguinaldo copies of important telegrams exchanged between the American officers. Letters were also found relating to large contributions forwarded to Aguinaldo from Spanish and other foreign business men.

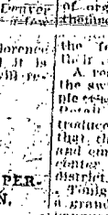
Use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in their homes, and say it is a blessing to mankind.



"My Dear Sir: Your favor with the enclosed slip at hand. The facts are these. My wife was an invalid for several years and, on my physician's recommendation, used a certain preparation with very great benefit. I am a Presbyterian clergyman and Doctor of Divinity, not of Medicine, but I am not afraid to say that Duffy's Formula and Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey are the purest and most effective preparations of medicines I know of; and my experience is a large one. I am a temperance man, and never used, and would never advise any man or woman to use, any intoxicant as a beverage. My recommendation of Duffy's Formula and Whiskey was made after a thorough knowledge of their great value as medicines. The statement is made deliberately and based upon facts, and I do not hesitate to stand by it. The many temperance men who have written me on this subject do not seem to realize that I was a temperance man before many of them were born.

Sincerely yours, E. MILLS, D. D.

HOT MORNING BREAKFAST

Comfort Depends on Food.

It is not so easy to arrange a tempting breakfast for a hot morning, but everyone appreciates such a breakfast [illegible] blood caused by a meat and coffee breakfast.

In fact by skillful selection of food, even the hottest days can be made quite comfortable.

Start with fruit of some kind; then a dish of Grape Nuts food with cold cream [illegible] or two soft boiled eggs, a slice of bread and butter and a cup of Postum as Postum Food Coffee. Oh that sort of meal one will be fully nourished until the middle day.

Grape-Nuts food is so concentrated and powerful imparting to the user a sense of reserve force and strength. The strong man thinks the weather moderate and comfortable when the nervous weak man thinks it unbearably hot. Grape-Nuts food is perfectly cooked at the factory and is ready for instant use cool and delicious, requiring no hot stove and [illegible] cook on a hot morning.

Health is a matter of wise selection

ADJOURNMENT IS POSTPONED

[illegible] posa's proposition and it was agreed to 33 to 35.

A further conference was then ordered.

Mr. Allison presented a conference report on the sundry civil bill, the house having disagreed to the single item remaining to be adjusted—the provision to pay the claim of the state of Nevada.

Mr. Allison said that with much regret he would move to recede from the amendment. After Mr. Stewart had made a statement concerning the claim, the motion of Mr. Allison was agreed to, thus completing the bill.

The senate then, at 3:35 p. m., went into executive session, resuming legislative business at 3:45.

Eight Hour Bill.

Mr. Pettigrew called up his resolution to discharge the committee on education and labor from further consideration of a bill limiting the daily hours of labor, commonly known as the eight hour bill.

Mr. Hawley moved to lay the resolution on the table, which motion prevailed, 33 to 28, as follows:

Yeas—Allison, Baker, Beveridge, Chandler, Deboe, Fairbanks, Foraker, Foster, Gallinger, Hale, Hanna, Hansbrough, Hawley, Keanr, Kyle, Lodge, McComas, McMillan, Platt (Conn.), Platt (N. Y.), Proctor, Quarles, Ross, Scott, Sewell, Shoup, Simon, Stewart, Thurston, Teel, Warren, Wetmore, Wolcott—33.

Nays—Bacon, Bard, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Carter, Clarke, Culberson, Gibson, Daniel, Harris, Heitfeld, Jones (Nev.), Kenny, Lindsay, McBride, McEnery, Mallory, Mason, Money, Nelson, Penrose, Pettigrew, Sullivan, Taliaferro, Turner—28.

A house bill extending the coal lands laws to the district of Alaska was passed in the midst of considerable confusion.

Hale's Protest.

Senators were pressing for recognition when Mr. Hale protested against the transaction of business in such confusion. He had not heard what the bill was that just had been passed. So it was, he said, with some heat, that an amendment had been put in the military academy appropriation bill providing for senatorial cadets. He was opposed to these cadets and the proposition had been voted down by the senate. He declared that such action on the part of a conference committee was outrageous. He had consulted with Mr. Sewell, chairman of the senate conference committee, and would not be put on the bill. In explanation of the action of the conferees, Mr. Sewell said the house conferees had insisted upon this increase in the corps of cadets at the military academy and the conferees of the senate, knowing that a similar provision [illegible] in yielding to the proposition.

A bill amending the statute relating to the appointment of receivers was [illegible]

A recess was taken from 5:40 to 6:30, after being in session for 55 minutes without accomplishing anything, took a recess until 8 p. m.

When the senate reconvened at 8:25 Mr. Hale announced that the conferees on the naval appropriation bill had agreed to a final report and it would be sent to the senate from the house in a short time.

Mr. Allison, chairman of the appropriations committee, presented in tabulated form a statement of appropriations made during the session.

Mr. Allison said that the principal increases were in the appropriations made for the army and navy and the post-office department and in items of the sundry civil bill.

The Returns from Oregon.

When the suggestion was made by Mr. Teller that [illegible] be taken until the naval conference report was received from the house, Mr. Carter (Mont.) said the time spent in awaiting the report "might be employed profitably by the anti-expansionists in submitting their views on the Oregon election."

He directed attention to the fact that Representative Tongue, who four years ago was elected by only 85 majority, had been re-elected this week by a majority of more than 3,000.

"Oregon," said he, "gives a Republican majority of 10,000; and, this man Tongue, who has consistently supported the present administration, Puerto Rican tariff and all, has a known majority of more than 3,000 and the back counties are yet to be heard from. It seems to me that the time might be spent in hearing the explanations of the anti-expansionists for this condition of affairs in Oregon."

Mr. Carter then entered upon a general discussion of the Philippines situation from a political point of view.

Mr. Mason (Ill.) made a half humorous half serious reply to Mr. Carter.

Mr. Hale explained the disagreement with the house on the ocean and lake surveys.

Mr. Hale moved that the senate insist upon its amendments and grant the conference required by the house.

This was done and on motion of Mr. Hale the senate at 10:40 p. m. adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow.

TO EDUCATE FILIPINOS

Recently Appointed Superintendent of Public Instruction in Islands Talks of His Plans.

Chicago, June 6.—Dr. Fred W. Atkinson, recently appointed superintendent of public instruction in the Philippines, is in Chicago. He was principal of the high schools at Springfield, Ohio, for several years and was appointed to his present post on the recommendation of [illegible] university.

The new Philippine commission will be in direct control of his movements but owing to his recognized ability in the educational field, he will be given all latitude possible in order to bring about the reforms sought by the administration.

"The education problem in the Philippines," said Dr. Atkinson at the Auditorium last night, "is most complex. I would not care to outline a plan until I have arrived on the ground and studied the situation. So far as I have been able to learn, the people of the islands are apt and eager to learn, but

Will Spend $10,000 at Printers' Home

That the Childs-Drexel Home for Union Printers is going to be maintained in accordance with the needs of the institution is again demonstrated by the announcement that beginning next week improvements involving the expenditure of about $10,000 are to be made at the home.

The institution is one of the most valuable in the entire west and it has ever since its location in Colorado Springs been a matter of great pride to the city. The improvements which are now to be made are for the purpose of making the home in every way adequate to the needs which confront it and no time will be lost.

A steam laundry is to be established which will enable the laundry work of the home to be done much more economically and satisfactorily and promptly than has been the case heretofore. A new boiler house is to be erected and three tubular boilers will be placed in it. Living rooms for the male employes of the home will be established over the laundry.

One of the great improvements that is to be made will be the installing of a sterilizing and disinfecting machine which is a large and very effective affair. There is but one of these valuable machines in the entire western country at the present time, the being one which was some time ago placed in the consumptives home in Denver.

Bids for the improvements at the Printers' Home are now being received and the work will be started within a week.

Wells-Fargo Company Gives Employes $50,000

One of the most striking indications of want, prosperity in the nation does for the masses of the people is contained in a circular letter that has been issued by the president of the Wells-Fargo Express company to all agents and employes of the company in the country.

As long always been the custom with express companies and other corporations handling the money and valuables of the public in large quantities, all employes from some trust company to protect the express company. The premiums on these bonds have been paid by the employes themselves and they vary from $5 to $15.

The circular that has been sent out by President John J. Valentine states that the company will hereafter pay all such premiums for its employes, the time for payment for the next year being now at hand, and that, moreover, the company is going to refund to all employes who have made such payments during the year that has just closed.

The announcement is to the effect that the new arrangement saving the employes this money will be in effect indefinitely.

As this order is effective from New York to San Francisco and upon all railroads of the company, it means a saving to the employes in the aggregate of nearly $50,000 annually.

Is a Descendant of Benjamin Franklin

Rev. Father R. J. Franklin, a descendant of Benjamin Franklin, en route around the world, is at the Alta Vista. He may spend some time in Colorado Springs for bronchial trouble, but is anxious to get to Bavaria to see the Passion Play before it closes in September.

"I declare Western America is up to date and away ahead of the general American Eastern European countries," he said. "Public utilities, architecture and general make up and methods are far beyond my expectation. Barring a few of our people, we hear a little about the Eastern United States, but have no idea they are more than mountains and mines with a few villages here and there. I could have dreamed that such a glorious and beautiful place as Colorado Springs existed out here?

"I have felt better already after coming to this altitude. I visited New Zealand and spent several months there for bronchial trouble, but it did not improve me. The climate of America generally is better than that of New Zealand.

"The most absorbing topic in New Zealand is the proposed federation of the colonies. New Zealand and Western Australia are holding back, each desiring to maintain its high tariffs and remain separate from the federation with the privilege of joining under the same conditions the others are about to enter now, but at their discretion. It is nothing more or less than a scheme to wait and see how the plan works before taking a hand. American newspapers as far as I have seen, seem to think the sentiment in favor of the federation is almost unanimous, but these two colonies are not in it and will not go in until they see how the plan turns out.

Father Franklin is proud of his surname, which sprung from the title of the country squire in the Saxon days, they being called Franklins. He hails from the Channel islands, near the French border, but which are owned by England, the same breeding spot of the Ben Franklin stock. His father and brother are named Benjamin and the family proposes to perpetuate the name in honor of the American inventor. John Franklin, the arctic discoverer, came of the same stock.

Father Franklin is an interesting gentleman of middle age, with a keen interest in events of world wide events. He heard the news of the capitulation of Johannesburg at Salt Lake, of Pretoria in Cape Town, of Honolulu, Japan, news that brought news of the relief of Mafeking to the Franklin party. Father Franklin will visit Oberammergau before returning to England and attend a performance or two of the Passion Play, in the history of which he is very much interested. Two years ago he visited the Holy Land and met a Colorado bishop whose name he does not recall but would like to find.

Hobbs Keeps Medal "A" Gets Co. Honors

At the High school yesterday afternoon occurred the fifth and final prize drill of the year.

The gold medal for proficiency in drill was taken by Morse, but inasmuch as it had been won in two contests by Hobbs was awarded to that private permanently. A company was awarded the flag and the sword given by the M. C. Lilly company of Columbus, Ohio, to the captain of the best drilled company was awarded to Captain Jon Any of A company.

B company was inspected first by Lieutenant Deane who came in from Fort Logan to conduct the drill and A company next passed under the officer's critical eye. The individual drill followed and a hole series of inspections was followed by the presentation of the prizes.

Lieutenant Deane made a most pleasing address before making the presentations, complimenting the battalion and the company and the men as individuals and explaining on what grounds his decisions were based. The battalion had purchased a belt to be presented to Lieutenant Rhodes, who has served a term of time during the year to the battalion and Lieutenant Deane was asked to take the belt to Lieutenant Rhodes.

After the awarding of the prizes, the medal and the sword, the members of B company, under the command of Captain George Gardner, were called to fall in and the whole company was marched down to Manitou and there served ice cream by Captain Gardner. While in there three rousing cheers were given, followed by a tiger as big as the cheers, thus showing the appreciation of the boys.

Captain Gardner had for his guests, besides his company, Professor Evans, Major W. W. Riddle, Will Chelcy and Mr. Meade A. Thomas and Mr. Harry Eldredge.

Captain Any took the members of the prize company down town and gave them a like treat at Mast's.

The Liver's Duty

The liver has two duties to perform—clean the blood and produce bile. You can't know it is working lazily if you are troubled with constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness and dizziness. It is trying to throw its work upon other organs. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will stop this, make the liver do its duty and thus, the stomach, bowels and nerves cease to annoy. YES OR NO

Colorado Springs People are Respectfully Asked to Answer These Questions.

Is one's own mind the evidence of one's senses?

Is there anything in the testimony of one's friends?

Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know?

Are the opinions of local citizens of any greater moment than those of strangers?

Would you sooner believe people living in some faraway place than citizens of your own city?

We think not; for home proof can easily be investigated.

Mr. David DeGraff, of 31 North Weber street, says: "If I did not find that Doan's Kidney Pills keep kidney complaint in check, if they had not helped me from the first dose I took, I never would have bought some half dozen boxes at the Smith-Wilson Drug Co.'s store, 31 North Tejon street and then would, I have given two boxes to friend of mine interested in mining property, nor could I be induced to recommend the preparation."

"AS YOU LIKE IT" A GREAT SUCCESS

The members of the graduating class of the high school acquitted themselves with high honors in the presentation of "As You Like It," given last evening at the Temple theatre. It is the unanimous verdict of the classes of years to come are as successful as the first two have been in the presentation of Shakespeare's plays, the high school will have a wide reputation for work along such lines. The play last evening was a success in every way and great credit is due to those who managed it and those who took part. It was witnessed by a large and most appreciative audience. Loud bursts of applause greeted the actors at various stages of the play.

Great credit for the success of the play is due to Miss Brooks, who trained those who took part and to Professor Pearson who acted as chorus director. Don McKeehan and Maurice Hall were the stage managers.

The two leading parts, those of Orlando and Rosalind, taken by Tom Richards and Miss Clara Stevens are well deserving of special mention. Their acting showed the results of most careful training and proved rather surprising to those of the audience who expected to see the work of inexperienced high school students. Both parts were well prepared and presented in a most pleasing manner.

Mr. Harold Nash, who took the part of Touchstone and Miss Jessie Gordon as Audrey, quite won the audience with their amusing parts. Both parts were presented in excellent style and brought forth hearty applause several times.

Among other parts especially commendable were those of Celia, taken by Miss Belle Turnbull, the Duke by Miss Lola Davis, Le Beau by Maurice Hall and Oliver by Roy Mack.

The proceeds from the play will be devoted to the purchase of a memorial to the late principal of the High school, George D. Turnbull.

COMMENCEMENT AT HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT

A novel and wise feature of the commencement programme for the High school graduates, who receive their diplomas in the school auditorium this evening, will be an address by Hon. Alva Adams, governor of Colorado.

An interesting programme of music and [illegible] embracing the necessary exercises has been prepared, wholly devoid of essays, etc. as is the custom for such occasions. Governor Adams will address the graduates on a subject he has not yet announced, but those who know him either personally or by reputation are sure the talk will be instructive and edifying in every particular.

The main entrance on the south side, side for all with tickets, and the only entrance at the southeast corner will be open, only those holding tickets being admitted prior to 8 p. m. at which hour the general public will be allowed to pass in. Graduates and members of the chorus will use the west door, and can obtain tickets from Mr. A. C. Pearson. The [illegible] to the graduates are expected to leave the same in the lower hall with the ushers, who will conduct to their places.

Tomorrow evening at the Alamo the closing event of commencement week will occur, when the Alumni association will [illegible] to greet the class of 1900.

The programme of the exercises tonight is as follows:

THE SENIORS WILL PLAY THE FACULTY

Arrangements have been completed for a baseball game on Friday morning between the faculty and the seniors of the college, and a most exciting contest is promised. Clarke will be in the box for the faculty, but the professors seem to be fearful that the heavy batters of the senior team will knock him out of it, for they had Prof. Ahlers down on the field yesterday morning, trying his wing.

Prof. Pattison says he cannot play, so it may be necessary for the seniors to lend the faculty a man after all, for there are several professors who would not play ball, or rather, couldn't if their salaries were doubled. The profs say there are several seniors who should be given upshot in which to catch flies, and so the word contest is on.

There promises to be a large crowd to see the contest at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in sweating, coaching, and knocking two-baggers. The money taken in at the gate will go to the fund with which the class of 1900 is to provide the college with a memorial.

A very pretty wedding occurred at 7:30 last evening at the home of the bride, 508 Prospect street, when Miss Maggie M. Strohm and William J. Park, the latter of Lincoln county, were united in marriage by the Rev. Pressly Thompson. The ceremony and supper were beautiful in their appointments, and witnessed by a large company of friends of the young pair, who spent the evening at the table and in mingling happily together. Numerous and attractive presents were received. Mr. Park is a well known and a successful stockman.

Skin Diseases

When the excretory ducts fail to carry off the waste material from the system there is an abnormal accumulation of effete matter which poisons and clogs the blood, and it becomes sour and acid. The skin surface there is a redness and eruption, and by certain peculiarities we recognize Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Erysipelas and many other skin troubles, more or less severe. While the skin is the seat of irritation, the real disease is in the blood. Medicated lotions and powders may allay the itching and burning, but never cure, no matter how long and faithfully continued, and the condition is often aggravated and skin permanently injured by their use.

The disease is more than skin deep; the entire circulation is poisoned.

The many preparations of arsenic, mercury, potash, etc., not only do not cure skin diseases, but soon ruin the digestion and break down the constitution.

S. S. S., nature's own remedy, made of roots, herbs and barks, of great purifying and tonical properties, quickly and effectually cures blood and skin troubles, because it goes direct to the root of the disease and stimulates and restores normal, healthy action to the different organs, cleanses and enriches the blood, and thus relieves the system of all poisonous secretions. S. S. S. cures permanently because it leaves none of the original poison to reinvent in the blood and cause a fresh attack.

SSS

Healthy blood is necessary to preserve that clear, smooth skin and beautiful complexion so much desired by all. S. S. S. can be relied upon with certainty to keep the blood in perfect order. It has been curing blood and skin diseases for half a century; no other medicine can show such a record.

S. S. S. contains no poisonous minerals; is purely vegetable and harmless.

Our medical department is in charge of physicians of large experience in treating blood and skin diseases, who will take pleasure in aiding by their advice and direction all who desire it. Write fully and freely about your case; your letters are held in strictest confidence. We make no charge whatever for this service. Our book on Blood and Skin Diseases will be sent free upon application.

OUR MILLIONAIRE DELEGATES.

SOME of our esteemed Denver contemporaries are considerably worried and annoyed over the character of delegates elected at large to represent the Republicans of Colorado at the Philadelphia convention.

The fact that they are rich is urged as an argument against their fitness.

Sometimes that is an excellent evidence of unfitness for the ordinary duties of life, but these men and the manner in which they acquired their wealth render them very distinguished exceptions to any such rule.

They all became wealthy out of the mines of Colorado and for every dollar which they acquired for themselves they put in circulation as an addition to the permanent money of the world from ten to one hundred dollars.

Their wealth was not acquired by wringing pennies from the hands of underpaid labor, nor from a combination to raise the price of the necessaries of life, nor from wild or reckless speculation, but from the systematic development of the riches of the state and by the employment at good wages of thousands of men.

These men each and all stand for the solid industries of the state and they are typical of the possibilities of Colorado life. All of them were poor when they came to the state and all are now millionaires from the hidden treasures of our glorious mountains.

They will not only well represent the state in the national convention, but their presence in such a notable gathering will emphasize the unequaled opportunities of Colorado for the acquirement of great wealth.

Neither is there any danger of any of them having his "leg pulled" by Senator Wolcott, Mark Hanna or the president.

That operation has been so many times attempted by people at home and they have really become such veterans in that particular line that if our sleepless contemporaries will but notice they will discover that their legs are actually getting sorely used instead of longer.

True, Moffat, out of his big and generous way of doing things, has, in years gone by, allowed himself to be made a victim of the wiles of as skillful a lot of political pirates as ever trod the soil, but that was in his more unsophisticated days and several hundred of their obligations and signatures are framed and indelibly stamped in his memory, and there is no danger of any such repetition at home or abroad.

[illegible] may be, before he gets through with His Excellency, he will have William so enthused over the Cripple Creek district and its future possibilities that he will insist upon drawing a voucher against six months of his future and unearned presidential salary and investing the proceeds in Cripple Creek gold mines.

There is not the remotest danger of Stratton being [illegible]

Mr. D. H. C. Brown has been a Democrat so long and his associations inside that party have been so close with its able and distinguished leaders in Colorado that his distrust of people in general and of politicians in particular, growing out of such experiences, will be a perfect safeguard for him against all kinds of schemes, for none can possibly be presented which have not been tried to get him to part with his money or to [illegible] some ambitious Democratic [illegible] official position.

There really is not much ground for worry over any very great misfortune befalling these delegates to Philadelphia.

They will probably be able to buy round trip tickets to the City of Brotherly Love and some one will undoubtedly direct them to a hotel where board can be had at reasonable [illegible] and the [illegible] to the convention is free, we fondly believe, notwithstanding the hysterical alarm of our [illegible] contemporaries, so that they [illegible] to return to Colorado with a few pennies at least jingling in their pockets.

We noticed, along with this clarion note of alarm over the pending misfortune to these delegates and in the same recent issue of one of these same esteemed Denver contemporaries that insomnia is on a rampage in that city and the doctors can do nothing for it.

There can be no mystery about the disease or the [illegible] cure.

This burning out of gray matter by the ton in worrying over the affairs of other people and working one's self into a fermented stew lest our millionaires become paupers will [illegible] thing more than it is now.

It will bring on actual and incurable insanity.

It is well that the convention is so soon to be held.

Probably Denver people can stand it two weeks longer without sleep, and then it will be made clear that our millionaire mine owners could actually take the trip to Philadelphia without going broke and without disgracing the state by being taken in by some political green-goods man.

THE SENATORIAL ELECTION.

COLORADO is just entering upon one of those too frequent contests which absorb the columns of newspapers, the attention of the people and the undivided interest of the politicians.

Ever since the state was admitted to the Union, every election has been a sort of merry-go-round for the political advantage of some senatorial candidate. The voters have never got beyond the point of beginning in accomplishing anything for themselves or the state, but it has always been a treadmill grind, after the trailing banner of some ambitious candidate for the senate.

For nine months now there will be nothing heard, or spoken, or written except about this or that candidate for the senate.

The state, aside from such new legislation, but all such minor and vulgar things as that will be cast into the outer rubbish pile and the sacred duty of waging a senatorial war and wearing a senatorial collar will be the occupation and diversion of the next general assembly.

No person will be nominated for the legislature this year in Denver, or at Monotony Water Tank, in Colorado Springs, or at Deer Trail who will not give a copper-bound pledge to some senatorial candidate.

Fitness for the position, character and standing in the community, ability to accomplish great and needed reforms will not cut the slightest figure and every candidate for the legislature will be left to enjoy the quiet of private life unless he possess deep-hued and strong to support some particular candidate for the senate.

Probably 60 days of the session, probably all of the session, will be taken up with the senatorial contest to the exclusion of all other business.

No sooner will this legislature adjourn than will begin with the same old vigor and probably by the same old crowd a scramble for Teller's place to be filled by the legislature next after the coming one.

Then we will have two more years of senatorial fight.

There is no such weakness or curse in our system of government as the present method for the election of United States senators.

All branches of government would be infinitely cleaner, abler and better in state and nation, if senators were elected by direct vote of the people.

Under the present system, no constable, or mayor, or sheriff, or alderman, or governor can be elected without the controlling interest of a senatorial contest.

To say that it leads into the darkest depths of political corruption and civic loathsomeness is stating it mildly.

It blights all honorable political ambitions and blasts the growth of all healthy political sentiment and renders public office an asylum for the confinement of those weaklings who are willing to take orders from others in the performance of their official duties under their official oaths.

There are candidates for the senate in Colorado today who, before the fever entered their veins, stood for high ideals in politics, for clean methods and honorable purposes, for the exaltation of the state and, no abnegation of the individual, but who are now wading in the mire of dirty ward politics, combining with influences which are a menace to good government, breaking every express and implied pledge ever given to the people, and there are others who fearlessly advocated the rights of the people, but who, now that the mania has seized the brain, are passively still on all questions of future state government and are silently content to see all that they stood and fought for annihilated and crushed into mire, if thereby they can chance losing a vote for the senate by conscientiously standing by the cause of justice and right.

Colorado needs legislation covering a variety of subjects in the next general assembly and the people should see to it that candidates for the legislature are definitely pledged to enact such legislation however many pledges they may give to aspirants for the United States senate.

What a refreshing change it would be to elect a legislature just once to serve the people and their interests!

It can be done at any time the people are ready to demand that it shall be done.

SENATOR TELLER.

SENATOR TELLER'S speech on Monday was in perfect accord with all of his recent utterances.

He has announced over and over again that he would not support the Republicans in the coming presidential campaign, and in fact he could not honorably do so without resigning his seat in the United States senate, for he was elected by the votes of all the parties opposed to the Republicans in 1896.

He does not agree with the Bryan doctrine with reference to the government of our island possessions, and he is not in accord with the Democrats on several other questions, but he has evidently made up his mind that they are more in harmony with his convictions than the Republicans and therefore he will cast in his lot with them for the coming campaign.

Senator Teller is a very strong man in Colorado and what he does and how he does it are likely to cut an important figure in the result of the election in this state.

He has a devoted personal following and the [illegible] of the people are great confidence in his wisdom and integrity.

During the past four years his name and prestige have been abominably mistreated by a horde of pap-suckers and political grafters who sought to advance and enrich themselves by hanging to his coat-tails.

Several of these creatures floated into office on the strength of his influence and honor and immediately set to work to use the power of the offices which he obtained for them to destroy both him and his party.

Others sucked dry the orange of official pap presented them by Teller and threw the rind thereof into his face.

Others were elevated and helped by him and were bound to him by a hundred ties of honor and good faith who made available assets out of his endorsement to betray his interests for a price.

The vast majority of the voting population has the perfect right to change its base of political action a dozen times a year if it so wishes, and it would not commend itself to intelligent and discriminating judgment if it did not sometimes change, but it often occurs that there are those who occupy relations to parties, or to party leaders, or to official positions, which make it the worst kind of dishonorable conduct to desert a party leader.

The writer of this was never a follower of Senator Teller, and while he thoroughly approved of the action of the Republican party in 1896, he did not approve of the bolt of the St. Louis convention, for the reason that our government is one of majority rule in all of its phases and no man has any right to [illegible] enter a political convention, except he intends to abide by the final action of a majority of such convention.

But the people of Colorado, by a very [illegible] majority at the ballot-box did approve of just what Senator Teller did.

The ingratitude, the treachery and the chicanery on the part of former Teller supporters which we have attempted to point out were all the results of fusion.

There was no well-defined political or personal responsibility and men felt at liberty to do things which they would never dream of in well-established and well-regulated political parties.

We therefore sincerely hope that Senator Teller will no longer stand for the irresponsibility and demoralizing, degrading influence of fusion in the politics of the state, and he trees he must co-operate with the Democrats that he will do so in such a way that the people can be assured of a responsible party government whatever the result may be.

Senator Teller can render a great service to the people of the state this year by the manner in which he outlines the method of his own political procedure.

He is chiefly concerned with great national questions, and he should not be averse to helping shape affairs in the state so that one responsible party may govern the state whatever the event of the election.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

THE deadlock in the city council over the election of a chief of the fire department has reached a point where the city's interests are being imperilled both by the absence of a necessary officer, and the disorganization that is spreading in the department as a result of the dispute.

As reasonable and sensible men the members of the council should see to it that this condition is not allowed to exist any longer.

The people have a right to be heard where the people's interests are affected, and the petition from the insurance men and prominent business firms and individuals of the city presented the other evening was representative of a large amount of public sentiment.

The discussion in the council has shown pretty thoroughly that of all the persons suggested for this office, there is no one better qualified for the position than the one who formerly held it, Mr. Daly. If he has been at fault in any way that concerns the work of the department he has already been severely disciplined, and there is no doubt that he commands the confidence of the taxpayers and the business men and that with proper support from the council he will make a faithful and efficient [illegible]

The council should act promptly in this matter and if no person can be speedily found who will make a better officer than Mr. Daly he should be reinstated

A CHANCE FOR INVESTORS.

ATTENTION is called to the advertisement of the new 5 per cent first mortgage bonds of the Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek District railroad, which appears on another page of this morning's paper

These bonds represent an unusually desirable form of investment and ought to be readily absorbed by local capitalists. Offered at 95 they represent an earning capacity of 5¼ per cent per annum, which is better than school, city or water bonds, and better than any other first-class security we know of at present.

Of the success of the new railway as a business enterprise there can no longer be the slightest doubt. It is assured that it will yield a handsome revenue from the beginning and earn considerably more than its fixed charges, including interest on these bonds.

A large number of the bonds have already been sold locally, and there is no question that the [illegible] can be readily placed. As a matter of local pride it is however desirable that as many as possible should be taken at home and it is for that reason that they are offered to home investors first.

Other things being equal, that town will win in the race for supremacy which has the best newspaper And other things being unequal, in nine cases out of ten the same town will also win

According to the School Review, 61.51 per cent of the pupils of American schools are boys And yet there are some persons who think that the girls know too much already.

And now Mr Bryan denies that he ever said that an anti trust amendment to the constitution was a necessity The consideration shown for Democratic congressmen is only too kind.

Kansas wants forty thousand more hired men to help gather this fall's crops. Coxey would have a mighty hard time getting an army these days

OPEN PARLIAMENT.

What is Thought of the Gazette

The following is a sample of numerous letters received by the Gazette:

Omaha, June 5, 1900.

Editor Gazette, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Dear Sir:—When I left the springs a couple of months ago I [illegible] the Gazette for two months and ordered it sent to me here. For some reason it has continued to come and I have not ordered it stopped for the reason that I was so impressed with the great improvement in the paper after the change in management that I imbibed a renewed interest in my old home and became very much interested in what was going on there. The people of Colorado Springs may well congratulate themselves on the change, for they now have a real live editor and he is publishing a real live paper, which cannot fail to add greatly to the business and social success of the city and county, but I cannot indorse its political past. You may continue my subscription for a couple of months longer. Yours truly,

J. S. Gibson.

A Suggestion to the Council.

Editor Gazette:—With a view of rendering such assistance and advice to our city council as might accrue to the welfare and added prosperity of our popular and beautiful little city, I would suggest that the city fathers open negotiations with the gentleman who has recently introduced the three-wheeled vehicle called an ought-to-go, to our midst, with the object of purchasing same, and presenting it to our official dog catcher. The merits of this wonderful machine in this particular capacity would be too numerous to itemize, and I hope the sugestion will receive favorable consideration. Yours truly,

T. C. Wahl.

(By a west Virginian.)

Where rocks grow taller than mountains in the west,
Where trees reach the sky when they do their best,
Where coal and petroleum fill valley and hill,
And the people get it out at their own sweet will—
That's West Virginia

Where the whippoorwill's songs sweet music make,
And to hear the frogs croak we would fain lie awake,
Where the squirrels frisk and gambol among the tall trees,
And the fresh water trout—a king would please
That's West Virginia.

Where natural gas is everywhere found;
Just open the earth and it bursts from the ground;
Where mineral waters have acquired a wide fame,
Good for all ills that mortal can name—
That's West Virginia.

Where the scenery is awe-inspiring and sublimely grand,
Nothing else like it in all the broad land,
The pure mountain streams clear as crystal run,
Through forests so dense as to obscure the sun—
That's West Virginia.

Where lumber is a source of traffic and wealth,
Where [illegible] people form in search of health,
Where there's work a-plenty for all God's poor,
No need to beg from door to door—
That's West Virginia.

Where soil is rich, it will you find,
But the rocks on the top are not quite to your mind,
Where farmers dig and delve with might and main,
Where [illegible] lot of coal, but plenty of rain—
That's West Virginia.

Where fruit abounds and melons are fine,
And every place flooded with beer, whisky and wine,
Where women don't vote, but just hold their own,
Where men earn the living and divorces are unknown—
That's West Virginia.

How shall I put them out?

Merely Spectacular.

"I suppose you will heed the old adage, 'Make hay while the sun shines,'" remarked the loyal but unoriginal boarder.

"Yes," said Farmer Corntassel, "I suppose we'll have to make a little hay so that the summer boarders can watch us and get the impression that they are seeing real country life."

A Dark Brown Indignation.

"I doesn't speak to him no mo'," said Miss Susanna Brown, indignantly.

"Do gemman-sleep-at you de candy?" asked Miss Juliet Julep.

"Dat's de gemman. He said he was gwineter send me sumpin' 'proprate,' an' when I done open de box dat was [illegible] fin' in it but chocolate drops."

Merely a Compromise.

"In the offices of the American commissioner to Paris there are ten to fifteen—they flit about so I've not been able to count them—slim, young college boys, with brushes of football hair, yellow shoes, creased trousers, and other appurtenances American. They feel the dignity that weighs upon them as representatives of the [illegible] across the sea, and on leaving all they can to attend the United States language in Paris. Underneath Mr. Peck's office in the Avenue Rapp, there is a big and new and spick and span cafe. It has become almost an adjunct to the offices above stairs. I dropped in there yesterday to see John [illegible] of the treasury department. He was chatting with some of his friends, so I sat down, ordered a cup of coffee, and waited. A half dozen of the college boys came in and took a table near me. One of them wanted ginger ale. He asked for it calmly: 'Oh, give me a bottle of ginger ale.'

"The unhappy waiter shook his head.

"'Ginger ale,' the young man repeated crushingly.

"The waiter waved his hands in helpless agony.

"'Why don't you talk French?' one of the young fellows asked. 'I thought you could talk French.'

"'So I can,' said the other indignantly, and he added: 'Garsong, coffee.'

"'It was a compromise.'"—(Philadelphia Post.

A Word for the Army Canteen.

(Minneapolis Times.)

It is hard to understand the hostility of well-meaning advocates of temperance to the post canteen. All army officers are agreed that it diminishes drunkenness, delirium tremens and nervous diseases due to dissipation. In the Philippines it saves the soldiers in great measure from the maddening native drinks and at home from the poisonous compounds sold in the [illegible] in the vicinity of the reservation. Army officers are more interested than anyone else can be in the prevention of [illegible] drunkenness in the army. Drunkenness means sickness, disorder, inefficiency, difficulty in maintaining discipline. If the canteen were a cause of drunkenness instead of a preventative they would be the first to demand its abolition. On the contrary, they have said more emphatically than it is an institution that should be preserved. They look at the practical side of things, and know as that human statutes cannot make saints of soldiers they favor the most practical method of reducing intemperance to a minimum.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK BLOCK

Plush for Pullman Co.; Felt for U. S. Horse

George R. Goodall, the largest plush manufacturer in the world, is the guest of Col. Lew Ginger, at the latter's home 533 East Platte avenue. Mr. Goodall is in Colorado Springs for pleasure and will visit Cripple Creek mines before returning to his home at Sanford, Me. The Goodall Worsted company has just completed one contract with the British government for horse blankets and is entering on another, either of which would probably show the largest figures of any like transaction on record. Mr. Goodall is a stanch supporter of the administration and predicts a continuance of the general lull in business now spreading over the country until after the fall election.

A Reaction Looked For.

"There is no doubt that business is not as good as it was a short time ago," he said yesterday, but there is no panic nor slump coming. Markets have been too high and there has been an over-production in many lines. This is simply a reaction. The west will experience the relaxation before long, but it is only the natural result of tight markets and heavy production.

"As for our concern, we are beginning to hold up a little until after the fall election. We have a new idea in one branch of our product that will take well and a new form house has agreed to take every yard that we can make, but it is not safe until we are assured that a Republican administration is to succeed this one. Personally I have no doubt of it, but we first want to know what kind of a president and what kind of a congress we are going to have. If it is Republican, the mills and factories all over the country will start in on full time for a four years' run, but ours will be one to go very slowly if by chance a Democratic administration should be put in."

"Our mills, 20 in number, are at Sanford, Me., and for years we have been furnishing plush to the Pullman and other car builders. We recently made plush for the Mikado's special palace train in Japan and for several Japanese railroads whose respresentatives were here.

Two Blanket Contracts.

"A patent we have on a horse blanket that keeps it on the animal and has no buckles and such to lose, caught the eye of British buyers, and we have just filled a contract for 30,000 blankets. They got on a slow boat, contrary to our expectations and were delivered just five minutes before the clock struck 12 on the night of the last day. The queen's government gave us another contract for 20,000 and we are about to get another.

"I notice you have an abundance of water power in Colorado. If that is properly utilized, the mills ought to afford good inducements for manufacturers. We use water power to run our railroad, 28 miles to tidewater at Cape Kennebec, to light the mills, as a part of the machinery, and furnish light for the city of Sanford."

Mr. Goodall is somewhat enthused at the outlook for Colorado Springs, commenting on the inviting field for real estate investments.

St. Louis Business Men Doing Guard Duty

"You may expect serious results of the street car strike in my town," said G. H. Borer of St. Louis at the Alamo yesterday. "Governor Stevens is making a grand stand play about the troops and does not intend to do anything unless the political situation is a little more favorable for him, but he's a smooth one, I tell you, and we are onto him and put no faith in his remarks.

Business Men as Guards.

"What is perturbing us most now is the way the sheriff is taking up business men to do guard duty. I objected seriously to being made a special officer, for in the first place it might hurt my business. We do not understand why they did not take younger men and those without families or established mercantile business as far as possible. Instead, they have taken in prominent business men who will always be remembered by the laboring men for their part and who, in most cases, have to leave their families, shoulder a shot gun and face the strikers. That's an outrage.

"The strike? No one knows when it will end. The men are asking for something they will never get and the company is determined to stick it out. If the demand of the strikers is acceded to, the company might as well do away with the superintendent, for he would have no voice about hiring and discharging men, regardless of their ability. But the people are not in sympathy with the strikers. Spring wagons, hearses and every other kind of vehicle are running as cars up and down streets, charging 10 cent fares. Some of them have the regular street car signs on them and you can climb in by means of a little ladder that drags along behind always in position and ride three blocks or to the end of the street for 10 cents. Ladies are using them freely—glad to get any old thing to ride on.

Perilous Ave Pale.

"In the thickly traveled business portion there is little or no danger on the cars that are running, but it is worth your life to go into the residence or semi-business districts. Half the people you see on the cars not in uniform are paid salaries to ride, but you could not hire me to do so. The strikers in this case are alone, save for the lower classes that will always take up such things, and the better thinking people are patting the Transit company on the back despite personal inconveniences."

FIFTY BOYS READY TO SELL STARCH

Fifty boys have applied to the Y. M. C. A. to be allowed to compete in its starch campaign for the benefit of the building fund. Any others who wish to apply may do so before 6 o'clock tonight and from the applicants then before the management 30 boys will be selected to sell the starch. They will be named in the Gazette tomorrow morning.

The interest in the matter has taken a keen hold of the people of the city. There is assurance that the boys are going to be gladly received nearly everywhere and that the people will do all in their power to aid the building fund in this manner and to aid the boys in their efforts to secure the blank in the contest, however, it will [illegible] kind, no boy being asked to work for nothing.

One man telephoned to the Y. M. C. A. yesterday to ask whether it would be all right for him to pay $5 for a package of starch. He was assured that there was no limit to the price that he could pay, and that inasmuch as the Y. M. C. A. hoped to make several thousand dollars out of the contest, it was hoped he would make it $5 or higher if he could.

A DEATH CAUSED BY COTTONWOOD COTTON

A very peculiar discovery was made yesterday by local physicians as to the cause of death in the case of little Dunbar Weir, the 10-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Weir, whose funeral occurred yesterday afternoon.

When the death occurred the cause was unknown. Mr. Weir was very much at a loss to know what it was and decided to have a post mortem examination held. This was done and the physicians discovered that a piece of what is known as cotton, the fluffy substance that blows about at this season of the year and carries the seed of the cottonwood, had been lodged in one of the lungs of the child and the inflammation which resulted caused the death. Mr. Weir states that the child had been left asleep a great deal in a baby carriage on the porch of his home and that it was probably at such a time that the foreign substance which proved so fatal was received.

GLEE CLUB SINGS AT THE CASINO

Tomorrow night at Broadmoor casino will be known as "Glee Club Night," and it promises to be one of the most popular nights of the season.

The Colorado College Glee and Mandolin clubs have made arrangements to hold their annual banquet at the beautiful resort tomorrow night and Messrs. Nye and Rogers, who have charge of the programmes at the casino, have arranged to make it a glee club night with the college men as the special musical attraction of the evening. The banquet of the club will be held early in the evening and at 9 o'clock the glee club will render the Broadmoor symphony orchestra in the programme of the evening. The popular musicians of the college will probably give four numbers on the programme, and Signor Cavallo's splendid organization will render the others. This will make a programme of the highest merit and keenest enjoyment. The college men have a reputation not only in this city but throughout the state. Their annual concert in this city early in the spring was one of the events of the year and there have been many expressions of the wish that the college boys might be heard again. The young men have been rehearsing for their work in connection with the commencement exercises of the college and will be in good training for tomorrow night's programme.

The annual banquet of the clubs will take a party of about 40 persons to the casino tomorrow night and there will doubtless be many more from the college to spend the late part of the evening with the clubs at beautiful Broadmoor. It will be a distinctively glee club night and it is expected that a very large number of the citizens will avail themselves of this opportunity to enjoy a social evening with the college men and to hear their voices again, this of course being the last time the club will make a public appearance in concert this season.

IT WAS DUE TO LOW HUMIDITY

The people of Colorado Springs, some of them, realized that it was an unusually hot day. Others, however, did not think particularly about it, not realizing that the [illegible] warmer than had been prevailing for several days.

As a matter of fact, the most comfortable day of the summer season that has occurred. It was far the warmest of the present year and but for the low humidity which prevailed would have been a very uncomfortable day. As it was, however, it was very bearable.

At 6 o'clock in the morning the thermometer at the college registered 73 degrees. Noon witnessed a record of 86 degrees and a couple of hours later recorded 88. At 6 o'clock last evening it had dropped to 76, and there was promise of a comfortable night, one of the assurances which Colorado Springs people have that would be such a boon to the people of almost any other section of the country.

At 6 in the morning the humidity was 22, which was the mean for the day. At noon it dropped to 19, and at 6 last evening the heavens being overcast and a suspicion of rain prevailing, 25 was recorded.

The Elks at the Ocean.

Members of that well known order, the Elks, will enjoy themselves at Atlantic City in July, when the annual gathering will be held there. Special arrangements for the trip may be made by communicating with H. R. Dering, A. G. P. Agt., of the Pennsylvania Lines, No. 248 South Clark street, Chicago. He represents the Pennsylvania Short Lines, the direct all rail route between Chicago and Atlantic City, over which special through train and through car service can be arranged for the event in question.

Buttonhole Interviews

W. H. Elwell, who is at the head of the movement on foot in Colorado Springs for the organization of all ex-Confederate soldiers and sons of Confederate veterans, has returned from the Louisville reunion.

"I got home yesterday," he said to a Gazette man. "We had a magnificent turnout of the supporters of the Confederate cause, and the meeting was an inspiration that will be lasting in its effect. There was a particularly gratifying representation of the states of the west, from which it might be supposed there would be fewer delegates and less interest. The reunion brought together hundreds of old comrades who had not talked war days over with each other since the war, and the next meeting will be looked forward to with greater interest even than was this. I can tell a whole lot more about the meeting to any people who feel sufficiently interested to call upon me."

"2:04½."

"That's his record," said a prominent broker to a Gazette man yesterday.

"Do you want to know who he is?"

"He's 'Sat-em-up-Jake,' and he has been purchased from a prominent Kentucky gentleman by W. S. Hendrickson. Mr. Hendrickson is somewhat inclined to be a lover of fast horses and he is now ready to match all comers."

"There are not many people in the city," said County Commissioner Sinton yesterday, "who know what a beautiful place General Palmer is getting at Glen Eyrie. It has long been a magnificent country seat, but the improvements that have been made there during the last year represent an enormous expenditure and every cent has been made to add to the beauty and attractiveness of the place.

"The board went over that way this morning to look over the ground between Colorado City and Glen Eyrie with a view to removing the road that leads along below the mesa high up on the hill to get it out of the adobe. It would be a great convenience to the tourist public and ultimately, we believe, a saving to the county, and we shall probably make the change."

"These politicians better be getting the foreign vote naturalized," said Judge Cunningham of the county court yesterday, "or they will be minus a whole lot of votes at election time that they may just as well have.

"There is a little activity being manifested in this direction but as yet there is no indication of party managers work. The persons who are appearing now to be naturalized in order that they may be in for the coming presidential election are well known and thoroughly established citizens who have decided that they want to be citizens of a progressive nation and are not being naturalized simply because some party boss has instructed them.

"The other element will begin to show itself soon, however."

TRAINS!

Our cars are no better—in themselves—than the cars of other lines. It is what is INSIDE them that makes them more comfortable.

For instance: The seats in our reclining-chair cars are provided with linen head pieces clean and cool. Our dining-cars have electric fans, and are gorgeously decorated with flowers. In every car is a thermometer, which the porter constantly consults in order to keep the temperature of his car as nearly uniform as possible.

By themselves, these things are trifles, but the sum total of them goes a long way toward making a trip over the Burlington a mighty enjoyable experience.

Burlington trains leave Denver 4:00 and 10:00 p. m. for Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago.

SCHOOL SECTION 16

Great Activity Noticed In That Section of the Camp--Dante Management Denies Rumors of Strikes.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, June 6.—Although mining operations on school section 16, at this time of the year are more or less interfered with by seepage water, there is to-day great activity noticeable in this section of the camp. From block eight operated by the Colorado City railroad men four to five carloads are shipped weekly. The Vindicator company is putting in a steam plant on block 22. On block 10, operated by an Eastern syndicate known as the "Block Ten company," is sinking a shaft. Ex-Governor Waite has a plant of machinery on block 10, block 5 is being actively developed by lessees and prospectors are at work all over the section.

Dante Strike Denied.

For some days past there has been a persistent rumor of a big strike on the Dante. To-night your correspondent interviewed the management and was informed that there had been no change of importance in the main workings or on the different blocks worked by lessees for a long time.

Carlson & Pelland leasing on the Morning Glory No. 4 of the Work company are getting ready another high grade shipment of ore. Their last consignment was settled for on a basis of twenty-five ounces gold to a ton and the present consignment will run equally well.

INGHAM LOSES RAVEN LESSEES

Work Has Been Abandoned, But the Company Has Other Applicants Who Are Anxious to Continue the Work.

The Raven workings on the Ingham are no more. The air drills have been removed from the drifts, and all active mining abandoned. The Raven lessees give as their reason for this course that 470 feet of work has been done at the Raven tunnel level, and that the ore shoot has not been found at that depth. In the upper levels about 200 feet of work was done and the shoot thoroughly exploited, the total output during the time that the lease has been in force being seven cars of ore which averaged between an ounce and an ounce and a half. The lessees feel disposed to do no more work at the Raven tunnel level as they have spent all they feel they can afford in searching for the shoot at that depth—about 700 feet.

At the office of Messrs. William P. Bonbright & Co., which is the local office of the Ingham company, surprise was expressed at the reported action of lessees De La Vergne, Stark and Campbell, of which the company had received no official or other notice. The ... been floating around for several days past had been given no credence by the Ingham management being regarded as ordinary stock jobbing material. These rumors, however, had brought several offers from strong parties to take up the lease should the Raven people decide to step out. No consideration was, of course, given to these offers, since the company had no reason to doubt that the present lessees were thoroughly satisfied. They had already shipped over 200 tons of ore of good smelting grade, and had fully forty tons additional broken and unshipped, with more or less shipping ore standing in the several stopes.

"It should be remembered," said Mr. Bonbright, from whom the above facts were obtained, "that while the lessees have run a long drift at the tunnel level 400 feet or more this has not been run on the vein, or near it, and that since no cross-cutting has been done the lessees are as yet in total ignorance of the vein conditions at this level. The drift was run in the country rock, in fulfillment of the terms of the lease and to make a connection with the main Ingham shaft; cross-cutting was necessary to reach the vein, and this was expected to be done in due course. It seems strange that these lessees have decided to abandon work without following the main ore shoot at greater depth in that portion of the mine from which $100,000 was taken between the third and fourth levels.

"The fact should not be lost sight of," continued Mr. Bonbright, "that the so-called Raven lease, though of importance, constitutes but a small part only of the work at present being done in Ingham ground. There are in addition five sets of lessees, all of whom are shipping, with the exception of one, who started in only about a week ago, and who, though he has driven but ten feet, is already in ore yielding assays of from $52 to $73. The Ingham company has a good treasury balance, property is patented and there are no debts or litigation."

CRIPPLE CREEK VERSUS SOUTH AFRICA FOR PROFITS

The London office of the Reed & Hamlin Investment Company has prepared a table for circulation among its foreign clients, the purpose of which is to show the advantages of an investment in Cripple Creek mining shares as against other mining shares listed on the London stock exchange from an interest paying standpoint. The result is decidedly in favor of Cripple Creek shares and shows the almost unlimited possibilities of Cripple Creek on that side of the Atlantic, when it becomes as well known as South Africa, West Australia and other localities which have heretofore been favorites with the London public.

Stratton's Independence is, of course, taken as the basis for the Cripple Creek end of the calculation, it being the only Cripple Creek company whose shares are being largely traded in in London at this time. At the time the table was made up Stratton's was selling at 2¾ pounds or about $14.00 per share. At the present rate of dividend an investment in these shares at the above price will return 14 per cent per annum. The comparison is drawn with the best known mines in other parts of the world, and the table in full is as follows:

Stratton's Independence	14 per cent.
Rand Mines (South Africa)	9½ per cent.
Progress (New Zealand)	6 2-3 per cent.
St. John del Rea	7 4-5 per cent.
Nundydroog (India)	8 per cent.
Great Boulder, Prop.	7½ per cent.

There is but one reason for this discrepancy and that is that Cripple Creek is less known in London than the other localities mentioned. When once Cripple Creek becomes as well known in London as South Africa and West Australia there is no reason why its shares should not sell on the same basis as the other shares mentioned, for in production and vitality our mines will bear comparison with any district in the world, while with reference to the average value of the output Cripple Creek is far and away ahead of any of them. Stratton's Independence is doing much to make Cripple Creek known and to give it its proper place in the world's market. It will be well for those interested in Cripple Creek to devote some attention to devising ways and means to assist in giving Colorado the position it merits in the mining world. South Africa and West Australia were as little known in London in their earlier days as Cripple Creek is to-day, but those interested in those sections went about in a thorough and systematic way to bring them to the attention of the investing public and now we recall the shares of their mines are selling on such a basis that they return little if any more than the average good industrial shares.

One method which has been pursued by other localities with excellent results has been the establishment in London of a Chamber of Mines, for the various districts, the purpose of which was to disseminate information concerning the particular district which it represented. Manitoba has recently stepped into line and has established the Central Canada Chamber of Mines and it seems to us that the time has come when Cripple Creek should take similar action, for we are now out of our infancy and entitled to the benefit of the world's market. An authoritative source for the distribution of Cripple Creek information and literature would be ... of much good and the establishment of such an institution would mean much to us. It might well be established in connection with ... We believe this to be a matter of great importance to Cripple Creek owners and now is the time for action, for with the close of the war in South Africa much capital will be seeking investment, and there is no reason why Cripple Creek should not have her share of it.

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

Independence T. and M. stock was stronger on change yesterday, selling up as high as 63, although it closed fractionally lower. The trading was much lighter than it has been for the past few days which would indicate that upon second consideration the stockholders have refrained from throwing their shares on the market for some decided bulls on the stock, and probably many shorts have been covering, which would naturally have some strengthening effect upon the stock. The stock offers many seductions to speculators as there is no doubt but that it will sell at a dollar if the mill is well disposed of in its favor, while others say that if the Bull City placer patent were taken from the company the stock ... think this a good time to sell.

WORK'S POORMAN CLAIM HAS JUST BEEN LEASED.

A lease has been granted by the Work Gold Mining company on its Poorman claim to R. O. Scobach. The conditions of the lease are that a plant of machinery be placed over the old shaft, now ... a new shaft on the south end of the property near the House lease on the Mary McKinney. The lessee expects to do active work at both ends of his lease.

REED AND HAMLIN FLOAT A NEW COMPANY.

Messrs. Reed and Hamlin, of this city, are organizing another company which will be launched in a few days. This is the latest of many organizations which this firm has engineered and will be known as the Golden Terry Mining company, owning territory on Curly mountain, near the Elkhorn of the Solitaire company, which has produced very rich ore. The company has about sixteen acres of ground in that locality and will lease it as soon as the organization of the company is completed. It is understood that a leasing company backed by big capital has negotiated for a lease on the entire property. The company is capitalized at 1,250,000 shares of a par value of $1 each, and 200,000 shares will be ... the treasury. The directors are Charles L. Tutt, A. B. Williams, Verner Z. Reed, C. C. Hamlin and O. H. Shoup.

TENDERFOOT HILL CO. WILL SINK A SHAFT.

The Tenderfoot Hill Consolidated Mining company has decided to expend $50,000 in developing its territory on Tenderfoot hill ... recently secured from the Alta Mont Gold Mining company. A shaft will be sunk immediately to the depth of 400 feet and a good amount of drifting and cross-cutting done in an effort to open the ore which experts assure the company is in the ground. This company originally owned the Deadwood group of claims on Tenderfoot hill, after which it bought the Alta Mont group with its treasury stock, giving it a total acreage of over sixty acres. Part of the money will be expended on the Deadwood group, but it is understood that the shaft will be put down on its new property.

COLUMBIA LESSEES ARE WORKING MAIN VEIN.

It seems that the main Orizaba vein was cut in Cripple Creek Columbia ground after the cross cut which was started to catch it had progressed thirty feet from the drift on the split from the main vein, but as there was no ore in sight the vein was passed as an unimportant one. After the cross cut had progressed for seventy feet, however, and two or three small veins had been cut and the main vein not reached a surveyor was employed who successfully located the missing vein. A drift was started on it, and after a couple of shots the quartz improved when the vein was clearly recognizable as the one from which the El Paso people have ... very low, but the quartz is of a very promising character, and it is expected that a few feet of work will disclose the ore chute. The split from the main vein upon which the lessees have been working for some time, and from which they have shipped considerable good ore, is showing up better all the time. The Columbia is not far from the El Paso company's workings, and it seems unreasonable to suppose that orebearing veins ... on one property and not on the other.

PORTLAND IS SHIPPING FIFTEEN CARS A DAY.

During the month of June the output from the Portland mine will be fifteen cars, or about 300 tons a day. The company has just ordered the Midland Terminal road to place fifteen cars at its disposal every day. It is believed that the mine could produce ore at this rate for almost an indefinite length of time without materially impairing the vast ore reserves, which are constantly being added to.

SINKING RESUMED ON THE HUMBOLDT.

Sinking has been resumed on the Humboldt in Anaconda gulch. At the depth of 150 feet the lessee opened a good body of ore and made some ... shipments, and it is now his intention to sink to the 300-foot point, when he will run a cross-cut to open the shoot at this depth. The shaft is now down about 225 feet, and sinking will be rushed on as rapidly as possible for the additional seventy-five feet, which has been contracted for.

VIGOROUS DEVELOPMENT ON THE LITTLE NELL.

The activity and strength of Little Nell stock is due to the very vigorous development which is being maintained at present on the property of the company, which consists of about fifteen acres in the town of Arequa. There are three sets of lessees at work, and the company is also operating one shaft. Ore is being saved from two workings. The immediate cause for the advance in the price of the stock is due to a strike which has been made by Lessee W. B. Rooks. At the depth of thirty-four feet he has encountered a ... pay ore, although it has as yet been impossible to determine the exact extent of the strike or the average value of the ore.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, June 6.—The market today on the Colorado Springs mining stock exchange continued in about the same condition that it has been for some time, although the trading was somewhat lighter than it was yesterday. Prices are generally firm, especially in those stocks which have been manifesting some weakness, and the instances of a further decline are very few. Although the majority of the brokers feel that the market is in much more of an inactive condition than it should be, considering the fact that two incentives to a larger business have just recently entered into the life of the exchange—the 15 new members and the privilege of trading on 30 days' time. But it is generally believed that the dull season will be very short and that a big bulge is likely to come at any time.

Ingham is an instance of the weakness of the market in the afternoon. On the first call it held up very well, but on the second it declined to 19¾, although it recovered to 20 at the close. The trading in the stock was very heavy. Portland took quite a tumble and sold at $3.02½. El Paso fell to 42¾, but Lexington gained another fraction and Isabella, although it opened at $1.24½, closed again at $1.25. Matoa went to 34 again, and Elkton, Raven and Tornado were all strong. This was the last day that the three last named stocks will sell pre-dividend, the books closing tomorrow. Acacia declined to 34½, and although Independence T. and M. opened as highas 63, it lost a cent during the call, the trading being quite heavy, but lighter than it has been for the past few days. National was again a heavy trader, but somewhat weaker than it was yesterday, and closed at 10½, while Virginia M. settled at 10. C. K. and N. was strong at 2¾, owing to a prospect of good development being done on the property. In the prospects list, the two stocks, New Haven and Olive Branch, were in color, the former going to 8½, and the latter declining suddenly from 6, the price of the last sale, to 5¾. In the pit call there was extremely heavy trading in Klondyke stock, which went as low as $9.00 per thousand shares, but recovered to $9.50.

The sales for the day amounted to 520,700 shares exchanged, the total cash value being $96,891.

AUCTION! AUCTION! AUCTION!

CLOSING OUT AT AUCTION

Commencing Friday morning we will offer at public auction our entire stock of Fine China, Glassware, Tinware and Graniteware. When this sale once starts there will be no goods sold at private sale; no goods will be delivered; no goods allowed to leave the house without the cash, as the terms of this sale will be strictly cash. Every item is guaranteed to be just as represented by the auctioneer. Remember, we sell you the goods, you pay the cash and have them hauled away at your own expense. We will not be responsible for any item left in the house. Every item must sell at some price, as we must give possession of the building on Saturday night June 16th. Never again will you have a chance to buy goods of this class at your own price. It is a shame to see such a stock suffer under the hammer, but our loss will be your gain. It is hardly worth while to call attention to the class of goods to be sold, as everyone is familiar with our stock. Among the many things to be sold are Dinner Sets, Tea Sets, Toilet Sets, Wine Sets, Vases, Jardinieres, Cuspidors, etc.

Remember, Just One Day Left

In which to buy at private sale Thursday as the auction starts at 9 o'clock Friday morning and there will be no goods sold at private sale under any circumstances. There will be one day devoted to the sale of Hotel Wares which will be advertised later.

THE SITUATION IN SOUTH AFRICA

As Reviewed by a Correspondent of N. Y. Tribune.

CLOSING EVENTS OF THE WAR

Delay in Occupation of Pretoria Advantageous to Both Sides From the Spectacular Point of View.

New York, June 6.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says:

The promenade from Cape Town to Pretoria was ended yesterday after a battle of maneuvers rather than actual fighting.

Lord Roberts gives a detailed description of this engagement and hopes thereby to dignify the entry of the British troops into the capital. The details have a hollow ring, and it is not clear that the resistance offered by the Boers was serious.

The Boers, when attacked by the mounted infantry and the yeomanry, fell back upon a position in the rear, where they had concealed several guns. The naval guns and the batteries of artillery moved up with the infantry brigade behind them, and the Dutch retired. The Boers made a feeble attempt to turn the left flank of the British army, but were thwarted when General Hamilton's column of mounted infantry filled the gap. The Boers retreated and Lord Roberts' army, after bivouacking on the night of June 4, resumed its journey yesterday morning, the guards leading the way. The casualties were not heavy and the engagement was a series of maneuvers on each side without desperate or persistent fighting in the dense Dutch stronghold.

Effect of Delay.

Lord Roberts was embarrassed by the Earl of Rosslyn's enterprise last week in revealing the helplessness of panic stricken Pretoria and the facility with which it could be entered by the troops and so was deprived of the credit of forcing his way into the Boer capital. Since the eagerness of the officials to surrender the town was proclaimed when he was not prepared to advance, a waiting six days he gave the Boers time to recover from their panic and to make some show of defending the capital.

The account of Monday's engagement and Tuesday's entry is better reading on each side in consequence of the delay. The Boers have the credit of making a stand at six Mile Spruit and of attempting to ambush the British and to outflank them, and Lord Roberts instead of marching in several lines after the enemy had scuttled out, has the satisfaction of entering the capital in gallant style after a successful engagement.

Lord Roberts does not appear to have used Buller's method with Ladysmith, with a strong body of cavalry and, while the heavy guns were kept well in front, there was little work for them. He had stationed two brigades of cavalry north of Pretoria and General Hamilton's column to the west and had not attempted to concentrate his forces since the Boer commandoes were dispersed.

Boast Unfulfilled.

After a few hours of maneuvering the capital was left defenseless. The forts, constructed at the expense of the mine owners and strengthened during the war, were abandoned. The Creusotes and Krupps and the famous Long Toms, which were to render Pretoria impregnable, were taken east to the mountains, and the capital, which President Krueger's burghers had boasted would be defended for month after month, was surrendered after a single feeble engagement.

The facility with which Johannesburg and Pretoria have been taken leads many military men to suspect that there has been a secret understanding between President Krueger and the British government by which the war will be brought to an end without unnecessary loss of life and wasteful destruction of property. This theory, while plausible cannot be proved, since neither President Krueger nor Lord Roberts will admit that there has been any secret intrigue or that the closing scenes of the war have been prearranged in any sense.

The safer generalization is that the Boers have fought gallantly against the resources of a mighty empire and have been finally overwhelmed by superior numbers and energy and that Lord Roberts has worked out an intricate problem in the dynamics of war. He has known how much force was needed for the advance line and what kind of force and how to protect his line of communications most effectively by operations on the eastern flank under General Rundle.

Remaining Operations.

The campaign may now be said to have ended west of the line drawn from Pretoria to Pietersburg. General Hunter's division is reported to have entered Lichtenburg. Lord Methuen will probably turn up at Potchefstroom, and General Baden-Powell and General Carrington will occupy Zeerust and Rustenburg. The occupation of Pretoria will probably dishearten the Free State forces and the Bethlehem, Harrismith and Vrede districts will be gradually overrun by General Rundle's forces. The remaining operations of the war will be restricted to the eastern district to which the forces still holding Laing's Nek must retreat through Ermelo.

There are many signs that the struggle will end in the course of a fortnight and the details of the surrender of Pretoria, communicated by Lord Roberts at midnight, support this view. From Lord Roberts' report it appears that the Boers were driven back fairly into Pretoria in Monday's engagement, and that the surrender of the town was demanded. General Botha proposed an armistice for settling the terms of surrender, and Lord Roberts replied that there could be no conditions. General Botha decided against any attempt to defend the town and the civil officials arranged for the entry of the troops during the afternoon, as had been done at Johannesburg. The wives of President Krueger and General Botha remained in the town and no attempt was made to remove the British prisoners to Waterval. All the prisoners will be speedily released and the stand made in the Lydenburg district is not likely to be serious.

A Remorseful Tribute.

(Washington Star.)

"The winter of our discontent,"
'Tis an improper phrase.
Perhaps it had some sage intent
In chill and blustering days;
But winter seems a fairy time,
With crystalline delights,
With music in the sleigh bells' chime,
With look and slumberous nights.

"The winter of our discontent"—
Oh, obelous attack!
Then there were no mosquitoes sent
To pipe us on the sack.

PLAN OF GOMEZ IS OPPOSED

Cuban Party Leaders Not In Favor of Amalgamation.

THE SCHEME NOT FEASIBLE

Organ of Union Democratic Party Which Has Heretofore Been Friendly to Americans Has Changed.

Havana, June 6.—All the political parties, through their representative newspapers, have pronounced against the plan of Gen. Maximo Gomez to [illegible] their party organizations.

Members of the cabinet say the scheme is not feasible, as such an election would not carry any official recognition from the United States. More than this, they say that amalgamation is unnecessary, as they have an assurance from the United States government that a convention will be called as soon as possible after the elections, of all the elected mayors, to form a constitution, which will be presented for ratification to the next congress.

Fear the Effect.

Consequently, they argue, if Gen Gomez were to carry out his plan of taking a plebiscite, it would make even the friends of Cuba believe it impossible for the Cubans to do anything without fighting among themselves.

La Nacion, organ of the Union Democratic party, now that it is an accepted fact that the party will [illegible] majority in the coming elections, continues to call its successful opponents a "mere rabble," and to declare that they do not represent Cuba. It says that only 23,000 voters have registered out of a possible 66,000, and that the better element refrained from registering. To this the Nationalists reply by asking why, if the Union Democratic party had such a majority, its members did not register.

La Nacion's Veiled Threat.

La Nacion publishes a veiled threat against the United States, saying in part:

"Surface appearances are often very misleading, especially when one wishes to ascertain precisely the direction of undercurrents. The American papers are misled by the visible placidity of the Cuban people and think that a general state of contentment exists over the island.

"We who are more intimate with the masses, can assure the American papers, that there is much silent discontent among the Cuban people. Much could have been done if the Cuban secretaries had had clearer ideas regarding their duties. Cuba has not been a transformed paradise. We have no serpents here, and if we have a whole tribe of bloodsucking vampires, which treaten us with a loss of the life supporting fluid, they at least can not lead us to spiritual perdition."

An Unexpected Attack.

Americans here are astonished at this attack. Before the members of the Union Democratic party discovered that they were in the minority in Havana they claimed that they were America's best friends, representing the old autonomist party, the wealth and intelligence of the island. Beyond this, they represented that they were conservative and did not desire radical changes. Now the columns of their organ abound in sarcastic allusions to everything American.

At a meeting of the municipality of Havana a member of the council said he understood that Captain Pitcher, police magistrate and supervisor of police, had ordered the police captains to learn English. The mayor replied that Captain Pitcher had merely made a suggestion, but had said nothing in the nature of an order.

Several councilmen protested strongly against such a suggestion. One of them asked why Cubans, the owners of the country, should learn a foreign language in order to speak with a foreigner.

No Reception to Argentinians.

The mayor called the attention of the council to the fact that the Argentine training ship Presidente Sarmiento was coming to Havana. He said he had mentioned the matter in view of the possibility that the municipality might wish to entertain the officers and crew. It was decided, as the Argentine Republic had not recognized the independence of Cuba, not to tender any reception whatever.

Senor Tamayo, secretary of government, has ordered that where more than one political party exists in the same place, the parties shall form a commission, containing a representative of each, to assist illiterate persons in voting.

General Wood left last night on a tour of inspection that will include Remedios, Calbarien and Santa Clara. He will be accompanied by General Humphrey, and will return to Havana Friday.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL GRAND LODGE AND REUNION.

Outline of Arrangements Made for the Gathering at Atlantic City.

Large Attendance Probable.

(Special Correspondence.)

Atlantic City, N. J., May 25.

From the large number of letters received by the executive committee in charge of the fourteenth annual grand lodge and reunion B. P. O. Elks which is to be held here on July 10, 11 and 12 the Atlantic City lodge is already assured that this will be the largest and most successful gathering of Elks convened [illegible] States ever known in the history of this popular organization. Where lodges members to the conventions of this order, word has been received to expect them in their own private cars from 100 to 200 strong.

The various local committees are holding weekly meetings and are hard at work arranging the many details for the successful entertainment of their thousands of guests at that time. The grand lodge headquarters will be at the Hotel Rudolf. A monster social session will be held on one of the evenings at Marcus N. Carroll's Blue Cavern Grotto on the Boardwalk, while a large reception and ball will be given on one of the ocean piers on another evening. The sessions of the grand lodge will be held in the Academy of Music, directly facing the ocean. Open house will be kept at Elks' Hall during the entire convention, and a ladies' reception committee will be on hand at all times to receive the wives, sisters, cousins and sweethearts of visiting Elks. During the week many special features have been arranged and these in addition to the many natural attractions and advantages offered by Atlantic City, will afford each and all a most delightful visit to the seashore.

Making Ready.

Atlantic City lodges have not been making much noise over their preparations for the reunion, but they assure all visitors that when they arrive here they will be most hospitably received, and that everything necessary for their comfort and entertainment has been provided for in the most ample manner. The second annual exhibition of the Atlantic City Horse Show association will be held here during the same week that the Elks' convention is in session, and as this is one of the great social functions at the resort, as well as one of the foremost equine exhibitions in the country, it will be [illegible] by the visitors. The bathing, sailing, fishing, golfing, wheeling, driving and scores of other amusements and diversions of all sorts at this place are not surpassed anywhere in the country, and there will be plenty of entertainment to satisfy everyone and send them home firm friends of the Queen Resort of America.

The grand parade of Elks will take place on the afternoon of Wednesday, July 11, and this parade is one of the leading features of the Elks' reunion. Samuel E. Perry, chairman of the parade committee, has charge of the details of the pageant. This committee offers the following prizes in addition to a number of individual trophies, which will be announced later on when the list is complete:

First Prize—Handsome silk banner to the lodge having the largest number of uniformed members in line of parade, based upon the greatest distance traveled, and of not less than 25 members.

Second Prize—Two hundred dollars to the lodge making the best appearance in the line of parade having not less than 50 members.

Third Prize—A loving cup to the lodge making the best appearance in the line of parade having not less than 50 members.

Fourth Prize—Silk national flag with embroidered stars, having knotted silk fringe and cord and tassels and jointed staff, to the lodge marching best in the line of parade having not less than 25 members.

Fifth Prize—A clock and ornaments to the lodge making the most unique appearance in line of parade having not less than 20 members.

Band Contest.

First Prize—Two hundred and fifty dollars to the best band participating in a concert to be given at such place as shall hereafter be named during the reunion.

Second Prize—One hundred and fifty dollars to second best band.

Third Prize—One hundred dollars to third best band.

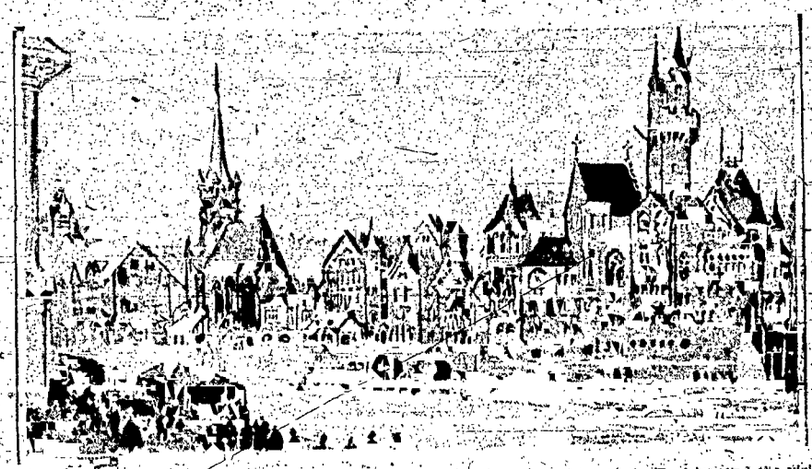
Note.—Each band entering for contest must [illegible] grand parade [illegible] and must accompany a lodge. The prizes will be paid to the lodge hiring the band and shall be governed by such rules as may be made by the committee or judges of said contest.

London at Night.

If you wish to see another phase of life, says Kate Douglas Wiggin in the June Atlantic, go out on a Saturday evening, starting on a Beecham's Pill 'bus, and keep to the poorer districts, from 9 o'clock on to 11, alighting now and then to stand with the crowd in the narrower thoroughfares.

It is a market night, and the street will be a moving mass of men and women buying at the hucksters' stalls. Everything that can be sold at a stall is there: fruit, vegetables, meat, fish, crockery, tinware, children's clothing, and cheap toys, boots, shoes, and sunbonnets, all in reckless confusion. The vendors cry their wares in stentorian tones, vying with one another to produce excitement and induce patronage, while gas jets are streaming into the air from the roofs, and flaring from the sides of the stalls, children crying, children dancing to the strains of an accordion, children quarreling, children scrambling for the refuse fruit. In the midst of this spectacle, this din and uproar, the women are cheapening and bargaining quite calmly, watching the scales to see that they get their full pennyworth or sixpennyworth of this or that. To the student of faces, of manners, of voices, of gestures; to the person who sees unwritten and unwritable stories in all these groups of men, women and children, the scene reveals many things: some comedies, many tragedies, a few plain narratives (thank God!), and now and then only now and then, a romance. As to the dark alleys and tenements on the fringe of this glare and brilliant confusion, this Babel of sound and ant bed of moving life, one can only surmise and pity and shudder, close one's eyes and ears to it a little or one could never sleep for thinking of it, yet not too tightly lest one sleep too soundly, and forget altogether the gloomy side of things. One can hardly believe that there is a seamy side when one descends from the [illegible] observation a little later, and stands on Westminster bridge, or walks along the Thames embankment. The lights of parliament house gleam from a hundred windows, and all along the dark road [illegible] by the banks thousands of colored disks of light twinkle and dance and glow like fairy lamps, and are reflected in the silver surface of the river; that river, as full of mystery and contrast in its course as London itself,—where is such another. It has ever been a river of pageants, a river of sighs; it rives into whose placid depths kings and queens, princes and cardinals have whispered state secrets, and poets have breathed immortal lines; a stream of pleasure, bearing daily on its bosom such a freight of youth and mirth and color and music as no other river in the world can boast.

In this Section Exposition Visitors Are Carried Back Two Centuries



One of the features of the Paris Exposition which is proving equally interesting to the Parisian and the visiting foreigner is the reproduction of the buildings of old Paris. The idea of constructing these old buildings came from the mind of M. Robida and he has looked after the work. They are built along the bank of the Seine, and a good view of them is enjoyed from the innumerable small boats which are popular with exposition guests.

Mismanagement.

(Washington Star.)

"The trouble about Nero," remarked Senator Sorghum, "was that the people around him didn't know how to manage him. All that was needed was a little tact and diplomacy."

"What would you have suggested?"

"I would simply have gotten the capitalists together and made arrangements to present Nero with a block of stock in every insurance company in Rome. Then he wouldn't have had the heart to set fire to the town."

New York Stocks.

New York, June 6. About midway of today's session of the Stock exchange there was a rise of 3 points in Jersey Central on rumors of control by Baltimore & Ohio. This incident offered an isolated feature of strength in the day's market and caused the only brief resume from the mood of depression which prevailed all day.

The most effective single factor was the warlike development in China. This influence was reflected in New York from foreign stock markets from the opening here, and London's actual sales in this market on that account ran up to about 30,000 shares, about half of which were of Atchison preferred.

Even as a direct influence this selling had a notable weakening effect in so narrow a market as now prevails. The sympathetic effect of foreign weakness was even more marked. Wall street entertains no great apprehension that the United States will become directly involved in the difficulties in China, but commitments of American capital in foreign money markets—and the extension of American commercial interests have grown to such proportions that any event which would precipitate liquidation in foreign markets must be reflected directly and strongly in the United States. Besides the news from China, foreign markets were affected by the tightening of the money rate in London and Paris and a slightly easier tone in the Berlin money market was not sufficient to offset other depressing factors. The break in the foreign prices of iron and rumors of further concessions in iron prices in this country emphasized the weakness of stocks both abroad and in this country. News of the domestic iron trade was confined to reports of declining prices being mingled with reports of re-opening of some mills recently closed down. Tennessee Coal was the weakest of the steel group and lost 3½, in the general list, prices were weak throughout, but stocks which have shown strength [illegible] were affected most severely. Atchison preferred, St. Paul, Baltimore & Ohio, Union Pacific and Louisville were examples. Denver & Rio Grande preferred fell 2½ points on rumors of the acquisition of the Colorado Midland by rival interests and Great Northern preferred declined 4 points.

The money market continues unprecedentedly easy in spite of the taking by the sub-treasury from the local banks of $2,569,000 this far this week. This gain by the sub-treasury is due to the calling in of government deposits from the banks and the money will be returned to the channels of the market as soon as the 2 per cent bonds, which have been called, are presented for redemption.

The bond market weakened in sympathy with stocks and on a moderate volume of business. Total sales, par value, $1,195,000.

United States bonds were unchanged in bid price.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 6.—Yesterday the local pit was half deserted; today it was crowded and every man in it was busy. The Ohio crop report started the advance. In the pit it was predicted that the Indiana crop was in worse shape than in the sister state. The Daily Trade Bulletin reduced its figures on the estimated winter wheat yield from 374,000,000 bushels to 240,000,000 bushels. July wheat opened a shade higher at 67¾@67¾c and thereafter nearly to 67¾@67¾c, around which figures the market hung for some time. Then the northwest damage claims began to show their effect. There were no good rains, the wires reported, and from all sections came claims of injury to the crop. One Dakota center declared that two more weeks of the present weather would spoil the crop and that under the most favorable circumstances the Dakotas could raise only a fair supply. The damage claims were given an appearance of sincerity by the buying orders which accompanied them. The southwest had been a good buyer early but the northwest soon took the lead and held it to the end. During the latter half of the session July advanced to 68¼c, and closed strong at 68¼@68¼c over yesterday at 68@68¼c. The cash trade was slow.

The marketing of long stuff kept the corn market from advancing in sympathy with the wheat buoyancy. Commission offerings were free and great confidence felt in the quantity and quality of the forthcoming crop. There was a good cash inquiry, but the shipping business was curtailed by higher inland rates. The wheat strength helped the market up during the session, but after noon the pressure of long corn forced it back again and the close was rather easy. Local receipts were 345 cars.

The oat market was quiet the greater part of the day, but held firm in sympathy with wheat. There was a fair general trade with shorts and shippers the best buyers.

Provisions were strong and fairly active.

The London Market.

New York, June 6.—Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram: The news from China frightened the public here to-day, causing operators to unload stocks. The result was a sharp business and selling set in, and London drifted American stocks all day, and since neither the continent nor New York showed any support in [illegible] was sloppy at the worst prices. Atchison preferred alone held firm on the increased dividend. Paris sold Tintos. Money was unchanged.

The Metal Market.

New York, June 6.—The feeling in the metals market was generally weak under adverse cable news, an increase in the production of tin and the sentiment apparently bullish. Tin sold off about 50 to 70 points and closed at $29.50. Lake copper also eased off, closing at 17¾. Pig iron warrants closed very weak at 15 for spot, and 13.50 for October delivery. Lead was unsettled but unchanged at $3.85@3.90. Spelter ruled easy in tone but quotably lower at $4.10@4.15.

What are the issues upon which the Democratic party will appeal to the people of the United States for their support in the forthcoming presidential election? That question is answered in a striking article in the June number of the North American Review by no less an authority than Mr. W. J. Bryan. The fundamental issue, Mr. Bryan insists, is the issue between plutocracy and democracy, since specific questions of national policy, in their last analysis, will disclose the conflict between the dollar and the man. Mr. Bryan illustrates his thesis by a discussion of the attitude of the two great parties toward money, the trusts and other called issues, denouncing the conduct of the Republican party and of the administration in respect of these three great questions, and warning his readers that if they would keep republic in the safe path to which the fathers committed it they must deliver the control of its fortunes into the hands of the Democratic party. Mr. Bryan is emphatic in his denunciation of "trusts":

"The God-made men do not differ greatly in size or strength, they labor under similar conditions as to life and health, and they are subject to the same moral restraints. Competition between them, therefore, is reasonably equal and fair. But corporations differ in size, in strength and in longevity, and, having no life beyond the grave, have neither the fear of future punishment nor the hope of future reward to restrain them. Competition, therefore, between the natural man and the great corporation may be grossly unequal and unfair. The line must be drawn at the point where the corporation seeks to establish a monopoly and deprive individuals or smaller corporations of the right to compete. In other words, the legislation necessary at this time must be directed against private monopoly in whatever form it appears. Those who desire to protect society from the evil effects of the trust must take the position that a private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. The power to control the price of anything which the people need cannot safely be intrusted to any private individual or association of individuals, because selfishness is universal and the temptation to use such a power for personal advantage is too great."
